Volstead Act Draws Fire At Board Session

Resolution For Light Wines And Beer Deferred To Saturday —Request to Vindicate La
Follette Is Tabled

Three resolutions introduced at the close of the Friday morning session of the county board started a lively discussion that lasted more than half an hour. They related to the Volstead act, a resolution passed by the board in 1917 concerning Senator R. M. LaFollette, and to a resolution passed by Barron co board concerning county nurses.

The first resolution provided that congress and the state legislature be requested to take immediate steps to go change and modify the Volstead act so as to permit of the manufacture and sale of a beverage of an alcoholic content of approximately 3 per cent, which the resolution claimed scientific research had proven was not intoxicating.

SCHWAMMER IS SPONSOR
The resolution was introduced by Supervisor Schwammer and provided that copies be mailed to the senators and representatives in congress. It was laid over until Saturday morning.

Many of the board members felt the resolution was sprung merely as a joke. Others took it seriously. There were "dry" sentiments and pleas for the thirty, with the line drawn about evenly for or against having the board go on record concerning the eighteenth amendment.

The second resolution related to one passed by the board five years ago in which Senator LaFollette was condemned for alleged seditious speeches he had made. The resolution claimed that investigation proved the charges were untrue and provided for rescinding it. It was introduced by Supervisor Jensen of Little Chute and was laid on the table by a vote of 27 to 12.

INDORSE BARRON MOVE
The Barron co resolution was presented to the board in the form of a communication. It related to the engaging of a county nurse, making such employment optional with each county.

As passed the resolution provided that the state senator and assemblyman of Barron co be requested to work for and support the proposed change. The resolution was indorsed by the local board.

3 DIE, 9 HURT; BLAST ROCKS CHICAGO HOME

Fire Chief Rescues Kiddies—Blame Bomb War As Cause

By Associated Press
Chicago—Police Friday worked on the theory that a bomb caused Thursday night's explosion and fire in a moonshine distillery resulting in the death of three persons and the injury of at least nine others.

The explosion occurred in a mixed foreign quarter, a melting pot for eleven different nationalities. Two buildings were wrecked.

In the ruins of one building swept by flames police found the wreckage of two stills. The original report of the firemen was that one of the stills had exploded.

BLAME BOMB
Later investigation developed the bomb theory. It was learned that four former occupants of the building had been slain by bombs and that threats had been made against the lives of families who lived in the structure.

The ground floor of the building in which the distillery was located was occupied by a grocery store and living quarters of the man who owned it, Joseph H. Verdini and his family.

Verdini is in a hospital suffering severe burns. His wife Paulina, 35, and her 15-month-old baby were burned to death. Firemen found the bodies with the child clasped in its mother's arms.

SAFE BLOWERS GET $1,000 IN DALE P. O. JOB

Postmaster Bock Finds Entire Building Was Ransacked
After Midnight

Harry Bock, postmaster at Dale, returned to his work on Friday morning, found the door of the building wide open, the safe wrecked, everything ransacked and $500 in stamps and money, $300 to $400 in treasury notes and a large amount of war saving stamps missing.

The office was locked at 7 o'clock Thursday evening as usual. It is thought the robbery took place after midnight because the garage within a few yards of the office is open until that time. The front door was sprung but the lock was not broken.

The thieves evidently entered the inside office by climbing over the railing. They blew the safe in order to get the valuables.

Mr. Bock sent for the sheriff as soon as he had determined the amount of loss. The office gave every evidence that the whole place had been searched and that the burglars had taken a considerable time to do their work.

Big Things In U. S.

RAILROADS
Washington—Whether transcontinental railroads in the northwest should be consolidated into two regional systems, one built around the Great Northern and the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the other around the Northern Pacific and Chicago Burlington and Quincy, hearing Friday before the Interstate Commerce commission.

Representatives of the "Hill" group including the Northern Pacific, Great Northern and Burlington were given first hearing and through Walker D. Hines, formerly director general of railroads they attacked the consolidation plan.

Other railroads concerned, including the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul through its president H. E. Byram, and the Duluth, Mesabie and Northern, one of the iron ore carriers, as well as state railroad commissions, were represented.

Commissioner Hall explained the commission was proceeding under instruction of congress to prepare a consolidation plan that would combine all major railroads into 18 or 20 regional systems.

The commission, he said, had tentatively proposed to separate the Great Northern from the present "Hill" group and combine it with the Chicago and St. Paul and create two strong systems in the same territory.

MEAT
Chicago—The two packing firms permission for whose merger is being considered by government officials, Armour and company and Morris and company, cover the world with their distributing systems.

From a ring of packing houses in Chicago, trade routes ending in branch houses and foreign agencies of both companies shoot out to Nome and Cape Town, Calcutta and London, Buenos Aires and Auckland. Thousands of refrigerator cars with the right of way over everything but passenger trains and fleets of special equipped ships, take chilled and frozen meats to the remote quarters of the globe.

The denizen of Cairo who longs for a port of call for a corn fed Iowa Hereford can get it through the distributing system of either of these packers.

Surgeons in Vienna get supplies from the stock yards. South Sea Islanders send there for their soap. Japan buys bismuth and gall stones (and the use to which they are put is not generally known among the packers themselves); Germany abumen and Poland fertilizer, all from the same source. The "Big Five" packers are everywhere—not one in each center, but in many cases two, three and five in every locality. Frequently their branch houses are next door to the other, their packing house and fertilizer factories within a stone's throw.

RICH ESTATE PLAYS ROLE IN DEATH PROBE

Body Of Former Wife Of Solons
Springs, Wis. Minister
Exhumed

Solon Springs — Relatives and friends and the Rev. Griffith Crawley, her husband Friday were awaiting the report on the investigation into the death of Mrs. Clara Bothwell-Crawley, whose body was exhumed at Gary, Ind. and the vital organs sent to Chicago for examination at the request of relatives who fear possible foul play through poison.

Mrs. Crawley became ill in July and died on Aug. 11. According to Dr. A. G. Wilcox of this city, death was due to pneumonia and other causes. He said that if Mrs. Crawley had been poisoned there was no trace of it apparent.

Mrs. Crawley was unconscious most of the time during her illness and talked incessantly but incoherently, according to Miss Hannah Strand, nurse of Duluth who attended the minister's wife from July 24 to Aug. 11.

Miss Strand added that when she was not attending the stricken woman Mrs. William Davis, a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Crawley's, cared for her. She said Mrs. Davis came with her husband Nov. 30, 1921 to open the parsonage at Solon Springs for her father the Rev. Mr. Crawley.

According to the minister "jealousy and hatred" over the division of Mrs. Crawley's estate, estimated at $75,000 by William Bothwell, son of her first husband, are responsible for the present investigation.

The festivities already are underway with parties of various kinds in fraternity and sorority houses for grads and former students who have returned to their former haunts for a few days.

The program on Saturday will begin with a parade starting at Lawrence Memorial chapel at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. All the students, members of the faculty and 25 floats will participate in the procession which will wind its way over the principal downtown streets to Lawrence field where the game with Hamline is to start at 2 o'clock. Between halves of the game, college freshmen and sophomore girls will put on a stunt.

Murder Breaks Out In Capital

HARDING FACES CLIMAX IN SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

Hopes It Will Pass When Special
Congress Session Starts
Monday

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1922 by the Post Pub. Co.
BULLETIN

By Associated Press
Washington — Agreement was reached Friday to take up the ship subsidy bill next Thursday under a rule providing for three days of general debate and unlimited opportunity for amendments with a final vote on Nov. 29.

Washington — President Harding faces the climax of his political career. He means to force ship subsidy through congress. The whole pressure of the administration will be put into the fight. There will be no recession.

Within the last twenty-four hours, the president has outlined the plan of action to his associates. He feels that his party must stand back of him on this administration measure or confess its inability to cope with after-the-war problems. But Mr. Harding is not going to regard the ship subsidy bill as a party measure. He is making a bid for Democratic support. His feeling is that the present shipping situation was created by the war, by a Democratic administration, assisted by Republicans, and that both parties owe it to the country to straighten out the mess.

MISREPRESENT CASE
The president charges that enemies of the measure have misrepresented the case. They are trying to prejudice the nation because of its traditional opposition to subsidies. The United States government is at present subsidizing the shipping lobby. Mr. Harding wants to reduce that financial burden by another plan which will cost much less. His proposal is to salvage the war fleet, the idea being to encourage private owners to take the government vessels and build up a shipping trade and pay back to the government in time the amount of the aid given now.

Under the new proposal, the private companies would be assisted in operating the ships and they would organize corporations which would buy the ships from the government at a fair price. The president is confident the government will get back into the treasury millions of dollars which it would otherwise lose. As for profitmaking, there would be no guarantee of profits to anybody. There would on the other hand, be a limitation of profits so that all in excess of a certain percentage would revert to the government to help pay the subsidy.

WITHOUT RETURN
Mr. Harding feels that the whole thing is a bookkeeping transaction. To do nothing means to expend an enormous sum for government operation—a plain subsidy without hope of return.

The President is confident the bill will pass the house within the next ten days just as the special session called for next Monday comes to an end. The Republican majority is big enough to get it through on a special rule. Once through the house the measure will easily have enough votes to get through the senate for at least a half dozen Democrats will vote for the measure making up for some defections from the Republican ranks.

Mohammed Emphasizes That
He Is Not Abdicating—President
Of Turkish Socialists
Falls Victim To Assassins

Constantinople — Mohammed VI, the Turkish sultan, has fled from Constantinople on a British war ship bound for Malta.

Upon embarking the sultan emphasized that he was not abdicating but merely removing himself from immediate danger.

The Sultan wrote to Lieutenant General Harington, British commander in chief on Wednesday evening, stating he considered his life to be in danger and would like British protection.

An attempt by the Kemalists to run the interned Turkish destroyer Akhisar disguised as a merchantman, out of the Golden Horn past the Allied control, was frustrated Thursday.

London—Russian Hilmid Bey, President of the Turkish Socialist party, has been assassinated in Constantinople, says an Exchange telegraph despatch from that city Friday. The crime was ascribed to political motives.

POWER TAKEN AWAY
The Sultan has been greatly exercised over his status since the Nationalist assembly at Angora recently voted to deprive him of civil authority and declared the caliph or religious head of Islam would hereafter be selected from the imperial house by vote of the Grand National assembly.

With Nationalist military elements coming into Constantinople and knowing Angora authorities would eventually control the Turkish capital, the sultan and his advisors have been puzzled as to what course to pursue. Most of his guard went over to the Nationalists and Constantinople despatches have pictured him virtually at the mercy of the Kemalists. There were rumors he had abdicated, or was about to do so but these were not confirmed.

Political motives may be read by some in the flight of the Sultan on a British warship. Great Britain undoubtedly has strong motives for seeing no harm comes to him because of the millions of Mussulmen within her domain, many of whom have disagreed with the Turkish Nationalists, disputing their power to take action affecting all Islam. The Sultan's status too is likely to come up at the Lausanne conference and it appears probable that when his status is debated there the caliph himself will be under British protection—a refugee at Great Britain's naval base in the Mediterranean.

London — Foreign Secretary Curzon leaves for Paris Friday to consult Premier Poincare on the policies to be pursued by the Allies at the Lausanne peace conference. Lord Curzon plans to proceed to Lausanne, possibly accompanied by M. Poincare, in time to hold another preliminary conversation on Sunday with Premier Mussolini of Italy. If the size of the British delegation may be taken as a criterion, Lausanne will be largest and perhaps the most important conference since Versailles. Although officials are reticent concerning the personnel of the British delegation, it is believed Lord Curzon will be supported by a retinue of at least 50 persons.

CUNO TO ORGANIZE
'CABINET OF WORK'
Berlin—Wilhelm Cuno, newly designated German chancellor, began selecting a ministry Friday. Herr Cuno proposes to organize a "cabinet of work" comprising middle and Socialist parties. This was apparently reassured by his advance secretary Thursday with various party leaders.

SCULLING CHAMP READY TO FACE DEATH CHARGE
Duluth, Minn.—Having wired Madison, Wis., authorities that he would waive extradition, Walter M. Hoeller, world's champion amateur sculler, was preparing to leave for the Wisconsin city where a charge of manslaughter had been preferred against him in connection with the death in an automobile accident of Herbert Seely, 35, Oregon, Wis., farmer. Hoover's attorney said the champion would be ready to make the trip not later than Monday.

EVERYBODY IS PLEASED WITH VOTE RESULT

Conservatives Exult And Liberals
Are Pleased Over
British Election

London—Gratification is expressed by most of the morning newspapers at the result of parliamentary elections. This was of course to be expected from the conservative press, in view of the retention of the conservative majority, but some of the liberal newspapers also find certain grounds for satisfaction or at least compensation.

They recognize that the outcome means a return to party government and the disappearance of all the most disliked in the survival of the coalition long after they regarded its dissolution as due.

"We are rid," says the Westminster Gazette "of the compromise and subtleties which have made parliament contemptible."

The Daily Herald exulting over labor's successes anticipates another election within 18 months and says: "If meantime we play our cards boldly and skillfully we ought to have a labor government without doubt."

The size of the conservative majority is seriously disputed by the papers, their figures ranging from 80 to 87 and until all the returns are complete this divergence will continue.

OBEY ME OR GET OUT, MUSSOLINI TELLS DEPUTIES

New Premier Of Italy Shows
That He Is Real "Strong Man"

By Associated Press
Rome—Premier Mussolini's first appearance before the Italian chamber proved a great personal success. He spoke to the deputies as he had addressed the leaders of his Fascist legions and his orders were received with similar apparent obedience.

He announced his foreign and internal policies and warned his adversaries that the Fascist government would not be intimidated.

KEEPS FIT
Rome—Premier Mussolini keeps in physical condition despite 15 to 18 hours mental work daily. He insists on one full hour fencing every morning. When his fencing masters asked Thursday whether the premier would fence as usual before making his first address as head of the government, Mussolini replied: "Certainly. Is this not the day of battle?"

had come to stay. He did not ask, but demanded a vote of confidence in his government declaring that if the deputies refused their mandates would be withdrawn. His bitterest enemies, who had looked forward to his encounter with the experienced politicians on their own battlefield, were disappointed and his friends are saying that he is the greatest leader Italy has seen since Crispi and that the Fascist rule will endure.

Congratulations were showered on the youthful leader from all sides after he had concluded his exposition of the government's program, all the parliamentary groups joining in the applause with the exception of the extremists who abstained from displaying any emotion.

C. E. PIERCE, MENASHA MAN, SHOT IN WOODS

Brother Mistaken Him For Deer
And Fires Shot Which Might Be Fatal

Clifford E. Pierce, Menasha, vice president of the Walter Brothers Brewing Co., and well known in sport circles in the Fox river valley, is near death in a hospital at Iron River, Mich. He was accidentally shot by his brother late on Thursday while hunting deer in northern Wisconsin.

Physicians said his chances for recovery are doubtful. The bullet entered his groin and pierced his bladder.

Pierce was one of a party of five which went north several days ago. Others in the party are George and Walter Pierce, George and Thomas Thompson, all of the Twin Cities. It is not known here which of the brothers fired the shot which wounded Pierce but it is reported he was mistaken for a deer.

The injured man was rushed to Iron River where he has relatives. Members of the Pierce family hurried to the hospital Friday morning.

Mr. Pierce had been employed by the George Banta Publishing Co. since the Menasha brewery was closed. He was a student at Lawrence college about two decades ago and had a reputation as a football player. In later years he has been prominently identified with baseball in the valley.

HUNTER DIES

By Associated Press
Iron Mountain, Mich.—Albert Wall-schlaeger, 44, of Coleman, Wis., who was shot by his companion, Adolph Leisner while on a hunting trip last Monday, died of his injuries here Friday.

Wall-schlaeger displayed a remarkable amount of stamina when he walked seven miles to a railroad station to board a train for Iron Mountain to enter the hospital. He is survived by his widow and four children.

Pays To Smile;
Lips Save Her
From Gallows
By Associated Press
Los Angeles—Mrs. Clara Phillips was saved from the gallows by her smiles.

The men members of the jury which found her guilty of second degree murder for beating Mrs. Albert Meadows to death with a hammer were quoted Friday as admitting that had it not been for the defendant's smile, she probably would have been convicted of first degree murder, without a recommendation for clemency, the jury making death the only penalty.

They said that Mrs. Phillips seemed to study them one at a time and flash frequent smiles at them while she turned an apparently stoical back to the spectators crowded in the court room.

When asked a direct question concerning them, the governor said only: "These cases have already been disposed of."

I SPIED TODAY

A CORRECTION

Contributors to "I Spied Today" are cautioned to be careful in their statement of facts. The purpose of this section is to report news stories accurately and to do that the reporters must know all the facts. E. R. Landreman of Kaukauna, has taken exception to an item printed in "I Spied Today" on Nov. 15 and submitted the following correction:

Editor Post-Crescent—In looking over your "I Spied Today" column I noticed an item about a Standard Oil truck catching afire from a discarded cigarette, and that the fire department was called and extinguished the blaze.

It is plain to be seen some one got two tickets by a misstatement of facts. We had a fire and a pretty hot one. Happily no damage was done. The facts are these: I had the truck backed up to the curb in front of the Mayer Buick Garage, and was passing the load into their storage tank which is located in the building. An oil stove was burning which ignited the fumes and immediately there was an explosion. Mr. Siebers shut off the gas and threw the hose outside. I ran the truck into the center of the street, took my fire gun, ran back and in ten seconds the fire was out. The party who sent this item to your paper must have been a couple of blocks away and guessed at it, because was not a person came near enough to know how it happened.

E. R. Landreman, Agt.

It is worth your effort to make the "I Spied Today" section the most interesting in The Post-Crescent. A ticket good for two admissions to the Elite theatre will be given for each item printed. The Elite theatre has prepared a winter program that compares with the best in the state. On Sunday Tom Mix will be presented in "Arabia". It will be the first showing of this picture in Wisconsin.

Betty Compson Pleases

That Betty Compson has scored another success was evident at Fischer's Appleton Theatre yesterday when her newest picture "The Bonded Woman" was shown for the first time. This is a charming sea story, adding another clean-cut emotional characterization to the shining record of this popular young star. The organ music, with G. H. Pollock at the organ, was unusually appropriate, the effects of the music made you feel as though you were on the boat when it was wrecked in a terrific storm. Another mention should be made as to the music appertaining to the illustration of Henry W. Longfellow's poem "Awaik" which is shown in conjunction with the Pathe Review at the opening.

Yesterday afternoon after school I spied a little girl running after a little boy about the same age hollering: "Tour my fellow, your my fellow." Everyone passing turned to look and laugh at them. This was near State and Fourth-sts. The youngsters were about 3 years old.

THOSE FLYING SWITCHES

While driving down Bennett-st the other evening going south just as I approached the track, a lone box car was sent across the track and in the darkness the only signal audible was the faint whistle of the brakeman on top of the box car. He was going through all kinds of motions to warn autoists. With no gates at this crossing it was the extreme caution on part of the driver that saved us from being hit by the box car.

LIKED HIS SAMPLES

In a grocery store the other day I saw a woman examining some prunes and other articles the grocer had on display. She "sampled" quite a few different things and then asked for a loaf of bread and walked out. After that a doctor walked in and seeing a jar of candy open on the counter he reached in and took a handful and making a small purchase he too walked out. The grocer turned to the remaining customers and grinning ruefully said, "At this rate my new displays won't be on display long."

PUSHED IT UPHILL

As I was walking up Pearl-st. Wednesday noon I spied a Ford car containing seven passengers. The driver was trying to make the hill on high but failed. He got half way up and killed the engine. The car backed to the curb. Then two men got out and pushed the car so it headed down hill and coasted to the bottom, started the car and tried it over again.

Conference At Oshkosh Next Week Aims At Protection For Riparians

Three distinct activities have been outlined in the program of the high water meeting to be held at Oshkosh Nov. 21, 22 and 23. The meeting will be called to order at 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 21 by John D. Mack, state engineer, who will outline the plans and purposes of the conference which are to formulate a program which will afford relief from floods in Fox river valley.

Then the Association for Relief of High Water will present its side of the question from the legal standpoint. George E. Williams, attorney for the association, will discuss the question, "What Rights Has the United States to This Water and What is the Proper Means of Relief?"

The waterpower interests will be invited to present their arguments on that question and the United States engineers will be invited also to discuss the legal phase of the question. The proposal of the government for construction of levees, and the plans of the Association for Relief of High Water for a cutoff at Shiocton will be included in the subjects for discussion on the opening day.

The second day will be given over to inspection. The third day will be devoted to a conference of riparians when all property owners who have been damaged by high water will have an opportunity to be heard individually.

How To Decide Which Phonograph You Want

True music lovers naturally want a phonograph that brings out every fine shade of expression in the artist's rendition. How to distinguish perfection in any one instrument is made possible only by the Edison Turn-Table Test. This does not obligate you in any way in your final selection, yet it may give you a new viewpoint on mechanical music.

The Turn-Table holds a New Edison and three other high-grade phonographs side by side. You sit before the Turn-Table and listen to the Edison Re-Creation of any music you may wish to hear—vocal, solo or operatic, instrumental, orchestral. The same music, by the same artists, is then played by each of the other phonographs.

After the Turn-Table test, there will be no question in your mind as to the comparative tone qualities of any of the four. You can judge by actual performance which visualizes the living artist—which brings before your very eyes the master-musicians of the world.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS

The British elections seem to have confirmed the political wisdom of the Conservatives who broke up the coalition government and forced the resignation of David Lloyd George, the prime minister. At this writing it looks as though the Conservatives would have a clean majority over all other parties and elements in the new parliament. Although Prime Minister Bonar Law was elected by a narrow plurality in the Glasgow district, this has nothing to do with the attitude of the people at large toward the new government.

The small vote polled by the Liberal party was no surprise. That party has been all but destroyed by Lloyd George's coalition policy. Even with the personal followers of the former premier, known as the National Liberals, the total Liberal membership in the new parliament will probably be less than that of the Labor party. Labor made great gains in the elections. It will have in the neighborhood of sixty more seats than it had in the last house. The labor bloc will hold the most important position in the legislative policies of the government, and undoubtedly will be given consideration in the policies it advocates.

One of the contradictory phases of the British election is the large vote given on the one hand to the Conservatives, who largely represent reactionary influences, and with it the large vote given the Labor party, which is essentially Progressive or liberal. What has always up to this time been the truly progressive party of Great Britain, namely the Liberal party, is overwhelmingly beaten. Undoubtedly this is to be explained as the reflex of a war government continued so long into peace. This government necessarily is held responsible for the difficulties and burdens of reconstruction through which the nation has had to pass, and these followed the heavy ordeal of war itself. It is a condition similar to that which existed in this country in 1920, its administration being deferred simply by a different political system.

Whether Lloyd George has been removed from the center of the stage for good, no one can say. It is certain he will exercise a deep influence in the policies and tendencies of the government for years to come, provided he elects to remain in official life. His personal popularity is still very great and the nucleus of the new party he leads will be watched with the greatest interest. How long the Conservative party will satisfy the people is hard to predict, but the general feeling seems to be that the new government will be comparatively short-lived in spite of the large majority it has received.

THE DOMESTIC WOMAN IN POLITICS

In the states where women recently acquired the suffrage they are often asked how they have enjoyed the experience of voting. The great majority of those who cast their ballots on November 7, have rather enjoyed their participation in the great game. They will say that it has broadened their point of view, and given them new contacts with life.

But many women of domestic nature are less enthusiastic. Their devotion to home goes so far as to fill their whole heart. They watch over the family nest with anxious care, and guard against its deterioration with loving hand. Every flower in their little garden, every article of furniture and equipment, is the subject of their watchful concern. They toil diligently for husband and children.

To many women whose thoughts are thus centered, the stormy conflicts of politics seem remote and distasteful. They feel bewildered when asked to render a verdict on issues that seem beyond their experience, and distant from their interests.

ests. This type of woman has somewhat passed out of fashion. But it developed lovely personalities, as sturdy as oak, as sunshiny as a flower in their garden. They brought up families of loyal and useful children. It seems almost hard to take these admirable women of the older type, and force them into a form of activity that fails to interest and may be perplexing and burdensome to them.

The modern woman has moved on from this secluded ideal. She has become a member of the civic body and expects to take her share in community leadership. The majority of women will never retire into the former limited conception of feminine interests.

So it looks as if the old fashioned woman must either overcome her aversion to political activity, or fail to take her share of public burdens. If she will put the same sound sense into citizenship that she has devoted to domestic concerns, she will be a tremendous force for good government.

NEWBERRY MUST GO

It seems to be an accepted fact that the Newberry case will be reopened and the effort renewed to have the senator from Michigan unseated. Former Governor Ferris, who defeated Senator Townsend of Michigan for reelection, made his fight largely on the Newberry issue. He has announced that one of his first official acts on taking office will be to ask for a re-hearing of the Newberry case. "I feel it is my duty," he is quoted as saying, "to the people of Michigan to straighten out this matter."

Mr. Ferris may well have gone further and maintained that it was a duty to the country as well as to the state of Michigan. The Republican party has already paid a price far in excess of the value of Mr. Newberry's party vote in the senate for its folly in forcing him upon the congress of the United States. In Michigan alone its gain of this seat is offset by the loss of Mr. Townsend's, and now its faces the probability of Mr. Newberry's ejection in the bargain. Not only this, elections all over the country which were adverse to the administration, together with the primaries which preceded the election, were to a considerable extent induced by the Newberry scandal.

One wonders what has become of vision and intelligence in the leadership of a political type which makes such stupid and colossal blunders as that in the Newberry case. It was as plain as the nose on a man's face that Mr. Newberry occupied a purchased seat, that he came to the senate with dollar credentials and nothing else. It was equally plain that the American people realized this and that they viewed his election with disgust and his seating with even greater disgust. Yet the leaders of the party at Washington who have its policies in their keeping and who are supposed to have regard for its future and for its prestige shut their eyes to these facts and blindly ordered Mr. Newberry's seating. So ashamed were they of their work that they tried to excuse it by passing a resolution condemning the manner of Mr. Newberry's election, which in every sense of the word was a condemnation of their own act.

In the face of such stupidity, and it applies to old-guard leadership in general, there is no occasion for surprise over a reversal of public sentiment such as has occurred in the last two years and as was disclosed in the recent elections. Newberryism was one of the things against which the people rebelled last week. Still the rebellion is not against party, but rather against politicians, their devious methods and the sacrifice of principle to partisan gain. Mr. Newberry must be expelled from the senate. He is a liability that no political party can carry. The Republican party has already attempted to carry him too long. The country is in no temper to tolerate political depravity of the character that Mr. Newberry's presence in the senate daily proclaims.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address: Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

THE TRAINING OF GRANDFATHERS

It was a long, hard battle. At the beginning the doubtful patient would grow peevish whenever the vexed subject was introduced. The come of asmitry, he called it. At one time he lost patience altogether and refused to see the doctor for several days, but a happy turn for the worse one night placed him once more at the doctor's mercy and the campaign went on fitfully.

The heavier action centered around a screen which stood like a gloomy sentinel at the foot of the patient's bed. The doctor brandished the screen a symbol of cowardice, a robe of benighted ancestry and a confession of bad ventilation. "Fresh air standing still has never injured you," he argued, "So why fear fresh air in a moving state? The screen is an effort to common sense, an obsolete antique, an ugly piece of backwoods bric-a-brac, appropriate enough for an old maid's boudoir, but there in a man's room—"

"Never mind, never mind, please go away and let me sleep," crumbled Grampy. "That screen," he added with feeling, "has stood there innocently as long as I can remember. It probably has saved me many a lame day."

"How come?" persisted the doctor, hitting into one of the patient's favorite snow apples. "It has nothing to do with your metabolism and it isn't a crutch. It's just a bad habit—let's send it to the attic."

The patient turned over in bed and forced a cough. "You'd better leave something for my cough to-night," he suggested, "I'm afraid it is going to keep me awake."

"No dope tonight. No, sir," the doctor firmly refused. "Use your simplex steam kettle if your cough seems tight. Better still, try a little fresh air for a change. This desert dryness of the heated air of the house is what keeps your bronchitis going. My dear boy, and the air outside is comparatively well humidified always. What do you say to an extra window and an extra blanket or comforter to-night. That will soothe your bronchial passages better than any medicine I can give you."

The patient feigned drowsiness, stretching and yawning, but the doctor knew his tricks and sent down after the crutch kettle. The doctor planted himself in Grampy's easy chair and read the political news while waiting for the steam. It arrived and presently the doctor heard the patient set the kettle back on his stand and settle himself in bed. When the snores sounded like a genuine article—for Grampy could stage some excellent imitations—the doctor softly raised the second window, removed the screen from the foot of the bed and grinned as a young sale blew through the room. He turned off the light and quietly crept out, leaving the patient as the mercy of the indoor furnace.

Next day when the doctor inquired how his patient had fared the night Grampy laughed at him. "I like fresh air," he confessed, "but I'm no hog about it—there are other invalids besides me, you know. I had to get up and close both windows after you had gone last night, and it was so blooming frigid running around here in my nightshirt that I nearly caught a fresh—or—deletion."

A touch proposition! But just the same, Grampy capitulated in the end. I'll tell you about it another time.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Rice Powder And Sore Eyes

You mentioned in one article that the use of rice powder for the face causes chronic sore eyes. Does that mean there is no cure? I find that any kind of face powder affects my nose and eyes.—Mrs. E. J. V.

Answer.—The trouble is curable if the use of the rice powder is stopped and the minute sharp grains of rice starch embedded in the lining of the eyelids is washed out by repeated applications of warm normal salt solution, so called about a heaping teaspoonful of salt dissolved in a pint of boiled water and cooled to about blood warmth.

Worms In Small Intestines

Kindly tell me whether worms are ever found in the small intestines or just in the lower part of the large intestine.—(Mrs. G. G.)

Answer.—The upper portion (duodenum) of the small intestine is the usual habitat of hookworms. So-called pin worm or thread worm usually has its habitat in the cecum (upper portion of large intestine) near the appendix. Lumbricoid or round worm has been found in all parts of the alimentary tract.

Milk For Father

Is it harmful for a man aged 65 to drink milk fresh—the usual kind of milk sold in the city, sterilized. I think it is called. My daughter questions whether it is good for me, though I like to drink a quart or sometimes three pints daily.—(D. S. T.)

Answer.—No. It is an excellent staple of the diet for a man of your age. I think however, that pure raw milk is preferable to sterilized or pasteurized or "acidified" or any other kind, except certified milk, which is, of course, the finest and purest raw milk to be had.

Egg Shell

Some time ago pulverized egg shell, taken in capsule form, was recommended to me to cure a goitre, an inward goitre. Would this be injurious in any way? I have been told egg shell contains more time than the system can stand.—(Miss C. H.)

Answer.—Powdered egg shell might be mixed with salt in the salt cellar (equal parts of egg shell and salt) to supply the deficiency of time in the denaturalized or ultra refined diet of most city dwellers today. No harm can come of taking the egg shell. It is almost pure lime carbonate.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, November 13, 1897

Attorney John Botteneck was in Antigo on business.

Sheriff Robert McMurdo visited Marinette the day previous.

Charles Wilson of Albany, N. Y., was calling on the paper manufacturers of the valley.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eversen the day previous.

William M. Van Nortwick of Batavia, E. Mariner of Milwaukee and E. J. Stevens of Madison had been in the city several days on business connected with the Green Bay & Mississippi Co.

H. Fink of Eagle River, a member of Gerry Lumber Co., was an Appleton visitor.

J. W. Cameron of Milwaukee was appointed assessor in the assignment proceedings of Henry Sherry of Oshkosh.

Cats increased in price 20 cents a bushel during the week and farmers of the county were unloading as rapidly as possible. The crop was one of the best in the history of the city.

The most serious fire in recent years was raging in London, England. A panic prevailed in the district surrounding the burning sections.

According to the Neenah Times, Nichols & Ryan, Appleton plumbers, established a branch office in part of the postal telegraph office on Cedar street, Neenah.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

METHOD TO END AUTO SLAYINGS STILL REMAINS TO BE DEvised

Announcement by the census bureau of a great increase in the number of fatalities due to automobile travel has emphasized the fact that no method whereby such killings can be reduced or checked has as yet been suggested. Strict enforcement of all existing laws, and prison sentence help, but the latter seldom are put into effect, editors agree, and put into effect, until pedestrian and autoist get together for a campaign of mutual cooperation noticeable relief hardly can be looked for.

"In the face of this growing problem," says the Newark NEWS, "which is the more poignant because the annual toll is composed largely of children, we have been helpless thus far. Our traffic organizations, our persistent publicity as to the dangers of the roads and the streets, both for motorists and for the victims of motors, have thus far failed to keep down the growth of accidents due to motorized vehicles stable, even when the growth of such vehicles is considered." There is great difficulty in suggesting any real remedy in the opinion of the Chicago NEWS, because "the human element is the chief factor in all the efforts at conservation of life," and the NEWS points out that as long as all safety precautions are systematically disregarded no change can be expected. Until drastic penalties for carelessness and negligence are imposed by courts the Pittsburgh GAZETTE TIMES holds "it will be a credulous person who will expect fatal accidents to be diminished." It is however the view of the St. Paul DISPATCH that, while "fatal accidents showed an increase of 25 per cent between 1917 and 1921 according to the report of the Census Bureau," the "statement takes no account of the great increase in the number of cars used in the same period," which also is of great importance to a proper understanding of the situation.

Because safety devices to date "are still crude and unsatisfactory," the Milwaukee SENTINEL agrees that "the necessity for unceasing vigilance and constant maintenance of every safety effort becomes more apparent." One excellent method along this line, the Boston POST holds, is that "parents must teach their children how to avoid street perils" and communities must provide "suitable playing grounds. There is nothing better, nothing more humane, than the latter. Our boys and girls must be saved from death on the public roads." Endorsing this idea in every way the Columbus OHIO STATES JOURNAL also feels that "even individual drivers must take a firmer grasp on his responsibilities." Amplifying this the Albany KNICKERBOCKER PRESS points out that "the only safety for all life lies in the absolute refusal of every man or woman at the wheel of an automobile to permit the car to move into any predicament in which there should be danger. One can skate over thin ice a thousand times but it is on the thousand and first attempt that trouble comes and crushed and broken bodies are frequently past mending." Excusing speeders, intoxicated drivers and other menacing motorists not only adds to the dangers "but never does any good," the Shreveport JOURNAL argues, "on the other hand it will bring harm there must be vigorous determined warfare upon these offenders if the death rate is to be lowered."

There are plenty of drivers "who have run their cars tens of thousands of miles without so much as killing a chicken," the Chicago JOURNAL points out and it believes "every youngster learning to drive should be taught as his first lesson that an automobile is a deadly weapon to be handled as carefully as a rifle. If fewer would end it in court." In order better to accomplish such a task the Utica PRESS would have "more rigid requirements which would exclude the untutored and untrained persons at the steering wheels of cars from streets and highways crowded with such traffic." Incidentally "we are killing more persons every year in our streets and highways than were killed in one of our wars," the Portland campaigner in France, the Birmingham HERALD asserts, and "the soldiers died at least for a worthy cause. These people we are killing here at home are simply victims of our stupid mania for speed."

It also "is no consolation," the Watertown STANDARD believes, "that the figures available show an increase in all cities and states and that the number of deaths does not grow in proportion to the number of automobiles. A single death is one too many. In very few cases is an instance of killing by automobile actually unavoidable."

There is a "city hazard that exists" and must be taken into consideration, the St. Joseph NEWS PRESS points out but "recklessness is a heartless addition to hazard caused by disregard of human safety. One man convicted of manslaughter and put behind the bars will do more to curb reckless driving than any other one agency. When the automobile driver who has been arrested for speeding never wants to be arrested again the death list will stop going up and start going down." This rule however should work both ways, according to the Little Rock ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT, because "when a motorist violates a law and for his carelessness kill a pedestrian it is slaughter, nothing less. When a pedestrian walks in front of an automobile the driver of which is obeying the traffic laws, it is suicide, not intentional self-destruction, but suicide by the carelessness and ignorance route." A WRONG IMPRESSION
Editor Post-Crescent: With your permission I would like to correct an erroneous impression created by a discussion of and a movement to endeavor to have the Soon Line through trains diverted at Neenah via Appleton, Argonne and the peninsular division. With many years service to our credit and a former employee of the above company desire to state that from their point of view such a change would be viewed with disfavor. First the distance from the company's competitive points, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, for a through east and west traffic would be perceptibly increased; secondly, the territory traversed is a much less populous route. The amount of revenue obtained from local compared to through traffic is regarded as infinitesimal. The main factor considered from the carriers standpoint is the strong competition with the other four trunk lines with which each has to contend by efficient service for patronage and to lessen their running time to a minimum. At initial points there is much strife and competition is sharp for both passenger and freight traffic, the advantage and patronage of the average traveler going to lines of shorter routes and making better time.

Q. At what time can the cadets at the United States Military Academy be seen drilling? E. S.

A. Several companies of the cadets at West Point drill each day about four o'clock. The entire corps does not drill at one time after September 1. Between June and September the whole corps has parade every afternoon.

Q. Where the words "discovery of the North Pole" in the pension bill of Robert E. Peary? P. L.

A. The bill retiring Admiral Peary and tendering the thanks of Congress does not contain the words "discovery" or "discovery," but declares that Peary "reached the North Pole."

Q. When did the Government coin half-cent pieces? F. W. R. L. II.

A. The coinage of half cent pieces commenced in 1793. None was coined in 1798, 1799, 1801, 1812 to 1824 inclusive, 1827, 1830, 1837 to 1839 inclusive. The coinage was discontinued in 1857. The total coinage in half cent pieces amounted to $39,926.11.

Q. What is the record for deep sea diving? M. M.

A. The record is given by some authorities as 204 feet, a depth reached by James Hooper, at the wreck of the Cape Horn, off Pichidiana, South America. Benjamin Franklin Leavitt of Brooklyn, however, the inventor of a new kind of diving suit claims to hold the record, having reached a depth of 361 feet in Grand Traverse Bay, Michigan, in 1918.

Q. Does England draw revenue from the Canadian Government? C. L.

A. Canada does not pay any direct taxes to Great Britain. The chief benefit of Canada to the mother country is in the matter of preferential trade.

Q. What will make plaster paris adhere to wooden picture frames? D. V.

A. Add whitening to glue until it is quite thick. Cover the wood with the paste, then apply the plaster.

Q. How many prohibition officers have been killed in enforcing the law? W. A. F.

A. A recent statement of the Federal Prohibition Commissioner says that 125 Federal officers have lost their lives while enforcing prohibition.

Q. Where is the longest tunnel? E. W. T.

A. The longest tunnel in the world is the Simplon Tunnel between Italy and Switzerland. The longest tunnel in North America is the Rogers Pass Tunnel, and the longest in the United States is the Gunnison Tunnel in Southwest Colorado.

Q. When did the Turks first settle in Europe? T. B. W.

A. The Ottoman Turks first entered Europe in the thirteenth century, and in 1355 the City of Adrianople became the first Turkish European capital. Up to 1402 the Ottoman territory comprised Bulgaria, Macedonia, Thessaly, Thrace, with the exception of the district around Constantinople. By 1481 Constantinople, Albania, Bosnia, and Serbia, were conquered. Before 1586 Hungary was added and in the seventeenth century Crete was conquered and Poland ceded by Poland.

Q. Was the robe of Aaron the High Priest white? S. E.

A. The directions of Moses with regard to the robe of Aaron were "and thou shalt make the robe of the ephod all of blue, . . . and upon the skirts of it thou shalt make pomegranates of blue and of purple and of scarlet, . . . and bells of gold between them round about."

Q. What was the origin of eugenics?

A. Eugenics is from a Greek word meaning well born, and was first used by Francis Galton, the noted English scientist in 1883, who defined it as "the science which deals with all influences that improve the inborn qualities of a race."

Q. How long have there been night schools in this country? R. T.

A. The first successful evening schools in this country were established about the middle of the 19th century, although an attempt without permanent results was made in New York in 1834.

Q. Who wrote "You'd scarce expect one of my age to speak in public on the stage?"

A. The lines quoted were written by David Everett, the American writer, who was born in Falmouth, Mass. in 1770 and died in Marietta, Ohio, 1818.

Q. Has it ever been contended that Darwin did not originate the theory of evolution that bears his name? J. D. S.

A. Darwin originated the natural selection theory of evolution, so far as he himself was concerned, but it is a curious fact that by an extraordinary coincidence Alfred Russel Wallace formulated the same theory at the very same time of its utterance by Darwin. Both men published articles presenting his theory in the same number of the Journal of the Linnaean Society in 1853.

Q. What is the official flag of New York City? H. S. A.

A. The flag has three perpendicular stripes, blue at the left, then white, then orange. These were the colors of the United Netherlands under which New York was first settled. In the center of the white stripe at the English municipal seal commemorating the English authority which replaced the Dutch. This official flag of the city of New York was adopted June 24, 1915.

Joseph Maurer, son of Edward Maurer, who has been at St. Elizabeth hospital for ten days where he has submitted to several operations for infection, celebrated his tenth birthday anniversary Wednesday. That he was remembered by his relatives and friends was evidenced by the many gifts he received, which included a handsome birthday cake.

OPEN SEAL SALE ON THANKSGIVING

Supplies For Anti-Tuberculosis Money Campaign Received By Mrs. Russell

Thanksgiving day is the opening date of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis seal sale under direction of the health department of Appleton Womans club. Bundles of material for the sale including the seals and posters were sent to Mrs. H. W. Russell, chairman of the department, on Friday and the organization for the sale of the seals is being perfected.

Other organizations are selling Christmas seals, which have no connection with the anti-tuberculosis seal campaign and have caused considerable confusion in the minds of the public, it is said. Many people have called Mrs. Russell to inquire about the seals which are being distributed now. The campaign of which Mrs. Russell has charge will open on Thanksgiving and continues until Christmas day.

Music loving people of Appleton have been invited by Irving Zuelke to attend the complimentary recital given by Alexander Gunn, celebrated pianist, assisted by Appleton artists, in Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday evening. The program is to begin at 8:15. No admission will be charged.

Mr. Gunn will be assisted by Phenelope Davies, soprano; Mrs. Marian Ramsey Waterman, soprano; Percy Fullinwider, violinist.

Mr. Gunn has been in Appleton since Monday and has appeared before several organizations. He presented brief concerts before students of the high school, members of the Rotary club and members of Appleton Womans club. He is on tour under auspices of the music committee of the National Council of Womans club but his concert here is under direction of Mr. Zuelke.

Tuttle Press Girl Workers Organize Club

At a party at Appleton Womans clubroom on Thursday evening, 33 girls who work at the Tuttle Press or girls who are friends of those who work for that company were present. Miss Evelyn Denstedt was chairman of the committee on arrangements. After a program of games, the girls decided to form a Tuttle Press club to meet once a month. A committee was formed to plan a program for the December meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ross of Shawano are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Naves, Clarkst. Robert Schlintz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Schlintz, submitted to an operation for appendicitis at St. Elizabeth hospital on Wednesday. He is improving rapidly.

'Sky Riders' Is Next St. Joseph Amateur Play

Young people of St. Joseph congregation are again busy preparing for a plan to be given in the near future. The first rehearsal was held Wednesday night and regular rehearsals will be held three nights a week.

The play selected is called "The Sky Riders" and is a three-act farce full of fun and ridiculous situations. It is said to be a comedy quite different from the usual class of farces.

George T. Richard, who successfully directed the work in "Her Gloves" and "Jealous Hearts," also given by the young people of the parish, will again direct the rehearsals. He has selected the following cast: Miss Ruth Lacey, Miss Sybil Schommer, Miss Gladys Kranhold, Chrst Stark, Irving Weiss, Sylvester Single and Alex Hipp.

The play will be given for the purpose of assisting in raising a fund for the proposed new sisters' home.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The mixed choir of St. Joseph church will have a choir practice at the church at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Plans will be made after the rehearsal for a party to be given next week.

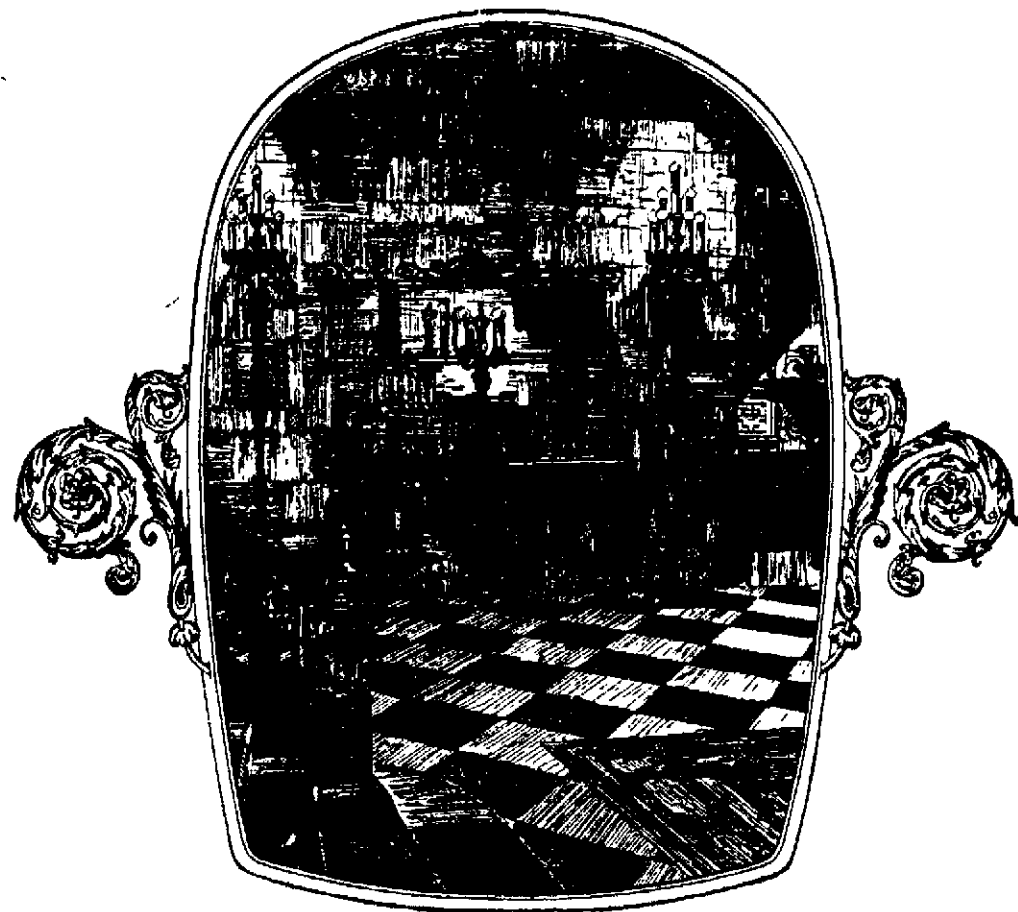

Fifty Enjoy An Evening Backwards

Women Have Hilarious Evening Doing Program Of Stunts Reverse Fashion

More than 50 women with their faces at the back of their heads and their hair combed over their faces attended a "backward" party in the gymnasium of Appleton high school on Thursday evening. During the entire evening it was hard to tell whether the guests were coming or going because their clothes were on backward. The party was given by the aesthetic dancing class of Appleton Womans club for all members of the recreation department.

Among the backward stunts which formed the program of the evening was a backward grand march and a backward Virginia reel, both of which proved to be novel entertainments. A backward relay race sent most of the participants sprawling on the floor. Other games were played and dancing formed part of the entertainment. Prizes were awarded in a waltz contest where the partners danced back to back.

Mrs. John Stevens is spending a few days in Chicago.

Advance Showing of Almco Lamps

To give Appleton women an opportunity to see the delightful new Almco Lamp designs which have just been created for the winter season, we have arranged a special Fashion Show of Almco Lamps for the coming week.

The unusual beauty and fine workmanship of Almco Lamps will make this display particularly interesting, and the newness and individuality of the designs now on display are well worth a special inspection.

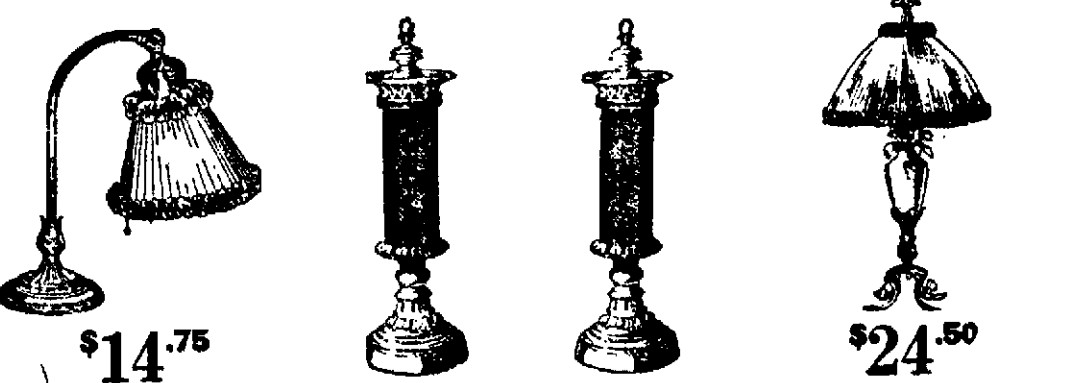

One of the distinctive features of Almco Lamps is the harmony apparent in every detail of the lamp. The complete unit of line, proportion and coloring is achieved by designing the lamp as a single unit, from the elaborately hand-carved wood or hand-wrought iron base to the blended colorings of the many layered silken shade.

Another effective touch is found in the large amount of skilled work which is employed in the creation of every lamp. Clever workers in wrought iron, deft wood-carvers and nimble fingered needlewomen produce effects that are not easy of imitation.

A Fascinating Exhibit of New Fashions in LAMPS

In this exhibit will be displayed many charming floor and bridge lamps with wrought iron or polychromed bases; table and boudoir lamps in pairs; quaint desk lamps; dignified torcheres and candelabras; and interesting novelties for living rooms, sun rooms, bedrooms and halls.

Every woman who is interested in keeping her home modern and beautiful will delight in seeing the decorative possibilities offered here in the newest Almco Lamps.

PARENTS GET NEW CONCEPTION OF DE MOLAY IDEALS

Organization For Youths Teaches Right Living And Right Thinking

Kaukauna—The words, "Order of DeMolay" took on a new meaning to about 40 fathers and mothers who were present at the first open meeting of Electric City chapter, Order of DeMolay, and its first observance of Parents' day Thursday evening in Masonic hall. About 70 persons were present and the meeting and program prepared by DeMolay members was successful beyond all expectations.

The aim and purpose of DeMolay was explained in an interesting way by Prof. Leo G. Schussman and W. P. Hagman, members of the local advisory board. Mr. Schussman talked on the purpose of the order, including in his address an explanation of how DeMolay furnishes an organization for young men from 16 to 21 years old who have passed the age in which the Boy Scout organization interests them.

"There is nothing 'anti' about the order," said Mr. Schussman, "Everything that it stands for is for positive ideals. It is not against anything. DeMolay takes the boys after scouting ceases to interest them and instructs them in clean living, true citizenship, reverence for God and love for mother and dad. DeMolay boys generally are of the age when they are forming habits which are of great importance in their lives and the order helps them to form habits which will tend to make them live lives worthy of the commendation of all good men."

Mr. Hagman briefly outlined the ideals of a DeMolay. He included patriotism, good government, support of public schools and a realization of the importance of education and filial devotion.

The talks were interspersed by musical selections by Mrs. Evangeline Farwell and Miss Norma Look. Vocal selections were given by Miss Elizabeth Main Donaldson, Master Councillor Mark Griffith, was in charge of the program.

Thirty DeMolay boys and members of the advisory council were present at a dinner given at 6 o'clock Thursday evening by Odele Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at the home of Mrs. L. Hale. Music during the banquet was furnished by Miss Norma Look.

GOD'S KINGDOM IS AT HAND, SPEAKER SAYS

Kaukauna—A large crowd attended the lecture given by R. H. Barber of Brooklyn, N. Y., Thursday evening in South Congregational church. The lecture was given under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association of which Judge Rutherford of New York, is president. According to the speaker, the old order is passing away and the new order is here. The kingdom of God is at hand, the lecturer said. He assured his audience that his sole object was to bring people to a knowledge of the dispensational truth now due to be understood.

BLAINE HELPERS
IN COUNTY MAY BE ON LIST FOR PLUMS

Governor Has 50 Appointments
To Distribute Among Friends During Year

Politicians in Outagamie-co are considerably interested in what Governor J. J. Blaine, recently elected, will do with the 50 or more political plums which he has for distribution. Rumors are current here that a few Outagamie-co men who worked hard for the LaFollette-Blaine ticket in the election are to be rewarded by being given a state sinecure. The terms of many important officeholders will expire in the next few months.

With the resignation of Chairman Carl D. Jackson of the state railroad commission expected before the first of the year and the term of Commissioner H. R. Trumbower expiring in February, Governor Blaine will have two appointments to make to this important commission. The third member, L. E. Gettle, is an appointee of Governor Blaine.

COUSIN'S TIME UP

Among other appointive positions to be filled are the following: commissioner of banking, whose term expires in May; George D. Harris, state board of control, whose term expires in April; Secretary of State Elmer E. Hall has been mentioned for this position.

Commissioner C. P. Norgard of the department of agriculture—term expiring in February.

Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, whose term expires in January.

C. L. Harrington, member of the conservation commission, whose term expires in February, mentioned for re-appointment. The legislature will probably consider, however, making this a one-man commission.

J. D. Morrissey, superintendent of public property, will probably be re-appointed in January or advanced.

Two appointments to the state board of accountancy to succeed F. H. Elwell and E. A. Kieckhefer, both of Madison.

A member of the athletic commission to succeed Dr. C. H. Morter, Milwaukee, whose term has expired.

NEED TWO REGENTS

Two regents for the university to succeed Mrs. Florence G. Buckstaff, Oshkosh, regent at large, and Peter Eimon, Superior, from the tenth congressional district.

Three appointments on the state board of vocational education to succeed E. J. Kearney, Milwaukee, Miles L. Hineman, Tomah, and Oliver Ellsworth of Oshkosh, whose terms expire in July.

A member of the university board of visitors to succeed Mrs. Charles M. Morris, Milwaukee.

Three members of the state fair advisory board.

Two members of the normal school board of regents to succeed W. K. Coffin, Eau Claire, and Charles S. Van Auker, La Crosse.

Adjutant General Orlando Holway, whose term is indefinite, will probably be continued.

A member of the industrial commission, Andrew Tarrell, an appointee of the governor's is now filling the unexpired term of Thomas F. Konop, resigned. Mr. Tarrell will probably be re-appointed.

A member of the state highway commission to succeed Fred Pabst, Oconomowoc, whose term expires in February.

State Health Officer Dr. C. A. Harper, whose term expires in February, is also mentioned for re-appointment.

A member of the state board of education to succeed F. J. Sensenbrenner, Neenah, next August.

PICKS POOR MAN FOR HUBBY

Miss Dellora Angell, 19, heiress to the $35,000,000 estate of the late John W. "Bet a Million" Gates, says she is happiest when with her recently proclaimed fiancé, Lester Norris, as shown above. "Poor men make the best husbands, and I will be content to be at home sweeping and darning socks, while he does his art work," she says. Norris, a 21-year-old artist, is a son of Carl Norris, St. Charles, Ill., undertaker.

BUILDING ACTIVITY
JUMPS 81 PER CENT

Building contracts in Wisconsin for October amounted to $3,369,000, according to the F. W. Dodge Co. This was an increase of 81 per cent over the previous month and 45 per cent over the corresponding month in 1921. Thirty-two per cent of the contracts for October, or $2,675,300, was for public works and utilities, twenty five per cent, or $2,134,200 for residential buildings; twenty-one per cent, or $1,733,000, for industrial buildings.

Construction work started in Wisconsin during the first ten months of this year amounted to $66,227,300 compared with $56,323,900 for the corresponding period last year, an increase of 18 per cent.

ON THE SCREEN

At the Elite
Helen Jerome Eddy, who plays the role of Emily in J. L. Frothingham's initial production for Associated Producers, "The Ten Dollar Raise," to be seen at the Elite theatre, was raised in the atmosphere of the motion picture studio. Born in New York she went west with her family to Los Angeles where she received her education in the midst of the world's greatest motion picture colony.

The story of Helen Jerome Eddy's rise in the film world should be an incentive to all girls struggling for a screen career. Not so long ago Miss Eddy was returning from a trip to New York and met a friend of her family on the train. The friend happened to be a famous picture producer who has the remarkable ability of spotting latent acting ability.

When the train pulled into the station at Los Angeles Miss Eddy had affixed her signature to a lucrative picture contract. But keen as this producer was in a business way there were other producers with eyes open for good talent. Result—another producer bought Miss Eddy's contract for $5,000 cash and the young woman was soon appearing in leads at a well known studio.

Miss Eddy will be remembered for her work in "His Sweetheart," "Lost in Transit," "One More American," "The Blinding Trail," "The Turn of the Road," "The Man Beneath," "The Tong Man," "The Country Fair," and for her excellent support of Mary Pickford in "Polivanna."

Came Home to Die

"Three years ago I came home thinking 2 or 3 weeks would be my limit to live. I had suffered for 15 years from colic attacks and severe liver and stomach trouble. I happened to see an advertisement of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and purchased a bottle at the drug store and after taking the first dose I felt better than I had for 15 years. I am now in the best of health—thanks to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists. adv.

George Mory Disclaims Liability in Automobile Injury Case

Arguments on motions following the recent verdict in the action of Mr. and Mrs. White Mitchell of Fond du Lac vs. M. Raymond of Tomahawk and George Mory of Stevens Point formerly of Appleton, were heard in circuit court at Merrill.

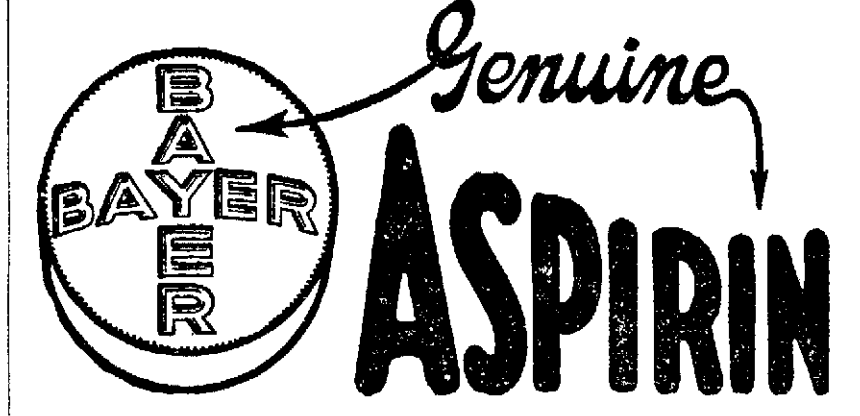

The plaintiff's attorney asked that Raymond be required to pay a judgment of $1,500 for damages to Mrs. Mitchell and of $500 to Mr. Mitchell.

for loss of his wife's services and companionship. Raymond's attorney said that it had been conclusively shown that Mrs. Mitchell was guilty of contributory negligence and that as a matter of law she should not have judgment. The attorney pleaded also that if judgment should be rendered, Raymond should be entitled to one-half of it from Mory.

ASK 2-MILL TAX FOR $182,000 FUND FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Report Of Committee To County Board Provides $122,000 For New Roads

For the construction and maintenance program for 1923, the county state road and bridge committee recommended in its general report submitted to the county board Thursday that there be a tax rate of $0.02 (2 mills per $100) under the state aid law for what is known as the county state road and bridge fund which would make available $182,945.56. In the opinion of the committee this could be used for new construction and maintenance in the manner described below.

Forty thousand dollars for county patrol maintenance.

Twenty thousand dollars for the county-state road and bridge fund, out of which to repair machinery, and make such purchases as might be necessary in carrying on the construction and maintenance work.

This leaves $122,945.56 which might be used for new construction. By an additional appropriation of $5,267.99 the total amount available for new construction would be:

Twenty thousand dollars on Seymour-Appleton rd. consisting of one and one-half miles of nine-foot concrete pavement in the towns of Center and Freedom.

Fifteen thousand dollars on the one and one-half miles of concrete pavement on county trunk line D in the town of Maple Creek.

Fourteen thousand dollars on Little Chute-Freedom rd. county trunk line E, a distance of one and three-fourths miles.

Ten thousand dollars on town line of Kaukauna and Freedom rd. county trunk line J.

Ten thousand dollars in the town of Oneida for gravel surface.

Six thousand dollars on Shiocton-Leemans rd. trunk line B. town of Maine.

Six thousand dollars on Bear Creek-Leemans rd. county trunk line F, in town of Deer Creek.

Two thousand five hundred dollars on Stephensville-New Lonsdorf rd. county trunk line A.

Two thousand five hundred dollars on Bear Creek-Leemans rd. county trunk line F, town of Maine.

Thirty-eight thousand two hundred thirteen dollars and twenty five cents of the above appropriation is necessary in order to meet the first and second 50 per cent of which the first 50 per cent is to be spent on federal state trunk highway construction on the prospective state highways in Outagamie-co.

The state aid allotment is uncertain due to the fact that the highway commissioner has not, as yet, received the exact amount of the allotment. The estimate is based on the allotment of last year.

In addition to the cement mileage of road improvement the committee reported it had completed five miles of gravel and crushed stone roads.

GOOD ROADS BODIES MEET IN JANUARY

Preliminary announcements have been received here of the thirteenth American Good Roads congress and the fourteenth National Good Roads show to be held in Chicago Jan. 15 to 19. The programs for both events have never been attempted.

Both events will be held under the auspices of the American Road Builders' Association, the largest and oldest good roads organization in the country. Road builders to the number of 11,000 will hold their twentieth annual convention in Chicago during the congress. Many prominent speakers will attend, including high officials of the federal government, several governors, hundreds of state highway officials and mayors of American and Canadian cities as well as thousands of engineers, contractors and good roads enthusiasts.

Right Wrapping Makes Uncle Sam Good Santa

Compliance With Postal Rules Will Ease Christmas Worries For All

The Christmas season more than any other time of the year offers a myriad of difficulties to the postman, but according to Postmaster William H. Zuehlke it is due more to improper wrapping of parcels and unfamiliarity with rules regulating the mails than with carelessness on the part of patrons.

As holiday parcels soon will be given early mailing, H. J. French, assistant postmaster, has given out the following rules which if closely observed will assure the senders fewer difficulties and less anxiety and at the same time relieve the postmen.

All matter must be securely wrapped in strong, substantial paper with the address of the receiver and complete address of the sender written in ink. Mail, other than letters, must be so wrapped that the contents may be examined easily by postal clerks. Otherwise such mail is treated as first class matter.

Liquids must be wrapped in some absorbent substance and then placed in a box made of wood or heavy cardboard and packed in a container made of double-faced corrugated pasteboard of good quality. The corners of the container must fit tightly and be reinforced with tape to prevent the escape of any liquid if the contents should be broken.

All articles easily broken must be very securely wrapped for safe transmission and marked "fragile." Among such articles are cameras, candle sticks, caskets, china, clocks, jewelry, photographs, musical instruments, dolls, delicate mechanisms, pens and phonograph records. Glass, crockery and fragile toys must be so packed as to prevent the escape of particles if the packages are broken in transit. Parcels containing perishable articles must be so marked and things likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing.

Umbrellas, canes, golf sticks and similar articles must be reinforced by strips of wood.

Cut flowers and candies must be enclosed in strong and suitable boxes. Sharp pointed instruments or tools must have the edges protected so they can not cut through their covering.

Rules at the express office are much the same as those of the postoffice. Articles must be wrapped in heavy paper and plainly marked and care taken in the packing of fragile and perishable things.

Packages over 25 points must be placed in wooden boxes or standard test cartons. Large shipments must be crated and carefully wrapped. In the use of the pasteboard cartons the flaps must be glued down, if sent by express.

FOUR WANT TO BE INCOME ASSESSOR

Position To Be Vacated By Lonsdorf Jan. 1 Brings Guess As To Successor

Who will be the next assessor of incomes, is the question that is much discussed these days. Now that the election of Assessor John A. Lonsdorf to district attorney is a certainty, several candidates already have filed their applications with the Wisconsin civil service commission.

Among the candidates are Gordon S. Fish and John P. Gilsdorf, both of Appleton, Douglas Hodgins of Hortonville, and W. C. Doughty of Liberty. Mr. Fish is the commercial manager of the law firm of Heinemann & Krugmeier. Mr. Gilsdorf was city assessor of Appleton for six years during the commission government. Mr. Hodgins is the former chairman of the county board of supervisors and was a candidate in the primaries for county clerk. Mr. Doughty has for the last nine years served the town of Liberty as clerk. Mr. Lonsdorf's term of office as district attorney does not begin until Jan. 1. His successor will serve both Outagamie and Waupaca counties as assessor of incomes and supervisor of assessors. The civil service examination will be held sometime in December in Appleton.

FAMILY RECIPE
FOR CRUMPETS IS
WEALTH VEHICLESouthern Girl Acquires Fame
And Riches in American
Metropolis

BY MARGARET ROHE

If you are fond of crumpets
With a fragrant cup of tea
Just hie you to "the Village"
To the little Crumperie
For Miss Crump sells crumpets
That are good as they can be

New York—Talk about predestination, foreordination and all that! If you were born to answer "Present!" to the name of "Crump" in the roll call of life the making of crumpets should just naturally be your ultimate career.

M. Alletta Crump from "way down south" started out blithely to ignore the natural consequences of such a cognomen, however.

When she picked out her career she chose nursing and came to New York to take a course in one of the larger hospitals.

Fate here took a hand and Miss Crump's health gave way under the strenuous hospital training. She was forced to switch to a lighter profession and what, pray, could be lighter than crumpets when made by a master hand?

An old recipe for crumpets being one of the heirlooms of the Crump family, M. Alletta philosophically decided to seize on the inspirational connection between her name and these delectable tea table dainties and start a Crumperie.

11.30 A. M. TO 6 P. M.
In consequence and in the basement of a little old-fashioned house at 55 Christopher st. Miss Crump set up her Laras and Kynates and tea tables and crumpet utensils about three years ago. Here daily from 11.30 a. m. to 6 p. m. she purveys steaming, amber-colored tea and hot buttered crumpets on which you may heap with your own lavish hand a mixture of powdered sugar and cinnamon.

It's a refreshingly quaint little spot, this Crumperie furnished in real old colonial furniture with braided rugs on the floor and bits of patchwork quilts for curtains at the windows. A bright fire crackles on the hearth and even the water stains on the walls have been turned to account and made into sportive lambs and cavorting elephants by clever fingers and a bit of crayon.

It is no wonder it is a favored haunt of the original "gang" of the Village, those clever radical young artists, sculptors, actors and spring poets who first discovered this old corner of New York as a Mecca for true Bohemians.

It is true Miss Crump does not actually make the crumpets herself. She only serves them. But don't worry it's all in the family. Every crumpet is a real Crump creation for Mrs. Crump, the mother is the masterhand behind the crumpet batter.

And of this one fact you may be sure—no one has even yet been known to leave on his or her gaily painted plate one single wasted crumb of a Crump crumpet at the Crumperie.

CHEESE TIMBALES
By Bertha E. Shapleigh

1 cup milk
½ cup bread crumbs (soft bread crumbs)
1 cup grated cheese
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
Cook milk and bread crumbs until a paste is formed, then add cheese, seasonings, and egg slightly beaten. Turn into buttered timbale molds or cups, and set these in a pan of hot water. Bake until firm or when a pointed knife is inserted in the center none of the custard clings to the knife. Turn onto serving dish, and pour around the timbales.

PIMIENTO SAUCE
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
2 pimientos finely chopped or rubbed through a sieve
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
Make as any cream sauce is made

OYSTER SOUP
1 quart or 4 dozen oysters
1 slice onion
1 sprig parsley
½ cup celery
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons lard or butter
1 teaspoon pepper
Few gratings of nutmeg
2 cups rich milk or cream
Pick over, to free from shell, the oysters, and then chop them finely. Add one cup of cold water and cook 20 minutes, having kettle closely covered. Strain through a fine strainer and cook with the onion, celery, parsley and flour, which have cooked

COAT FOR THE SLENDER

Incorrect

Correct

The winter coat is always a problem, but it is a particularly difficult one for the frail, fragile girl who is so lovely in light, pastel colors and summer frocks and so overwhelmed by heavy dark garments.

The correct and incorrect models pictured here illustrate the point. In one the wearer looks plainly "skinny." Her neck flaunts its boniness and her figure upholds the general unattractiveness of contour. Her worst points are flaunted instead of softened and subdued.

In the heavier coat, with the upstanding collar her figure seems more filled out and her personality emphasized. The rounded, smooth turn of her body adds a touch of piquancy to the whole.

The coat, however, which is so unattractive on her would just complement some types of feminine loveliness, and the one she wears so well would detract from the charm of a more vivid type.

Honeymooner's Abroad

Chapter 5 — Thrills!

By Zoe Beckley

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Were business secrets going to wreck the perfect confidence on which JOHN DUREIA and his bride,

EDNA, had built their happiness? Edna fears this when she learned her husband has been entrusted with a "delicate and confidential" mission by his employers. En route to Europe, John tells her the secret. He has been ordered to investigate the suspicious actions of the firm's European manager.

COUSINS Edna plans to assist her husband in the discovery of business intrigue.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
There was no more sleep that night for the Dureias. They dressed in their landing clothes and went on deck to see the dawn break upon their first sight of Europe.

The velvet Italian night its glitter softened to a delicate blue, took on her pastel colors of a lovely dawn there against the skyline ahead was a gracefully tapering peak a cloudy plume at its crest.

"Why—Mount Vesuvius!" cried Edna. "Think of recognizing the old dear from his picture! Naughty old creature that destroyed Pompeii and Herculaneum!"

"And look—the city—the Bay of Naples—and way out there, that shadowy thing what is it? Capri? Oh Jack how lovely—how marvelous for us to be seeing it all—together like this!"

Jack caught some of her excitement. "Hope we don't die of it. Eds. There's a saving you know. 'See Naples and die.' Some slogan for a town to adopt!"

NEW GLOVE STYLES

Smart white kid gloves have turned over cuffs of stiffened leather, stitched with black silk. Long gloves of very soft supple suede are very much favored at the present. Gray gloves are frequently seen with black gloves.

BLACK VELVET FROCK

A gown of black velvet, trimmed about the elbow sleeves and on the pockets, with tiny ruffles of yellow Valenciennes lace. There's a narrow girldie of royal blue ribbon.

FOR AFTERNOON WEAR

A black crepe de chine afternoon dress is embellished with small beaded motifs of small crystal beads. The long sleeves fit far over the fingers in a long, straight line.

In the lard, until slightly brown. When thickened add salt, pepper, nutmeg and cream. Bring to boiling point, season more to taste and serve.

GIRLS! GET INTO POLITICS IF YOU
SEEK REAL CAREERThat Is Advice Of Mrs. C. H.
Sabin, Eastern Suffrage
Leader

By Josephine Van de Grift

Southampton—To the young woman in search of a career there comes a suggestion.

Go into politics! Be a better politician than any man in your community and try to accomplish more civic good.

The suggestion comes straight from Mrs. Charles H. Sabin president of the Women's National Republican Club, an ardent worker in the struggle for suffrage and now on important factor in national politics.

"Go in for politics," she urges, "make a career of it as you would of art or music. The opportunities are boundless. The United States has had only two women congressmen. The field of diplomacy has only just been opened up by the appointment of the first woman to a place in an American embassy."

Most Attractive Field for Women
"There is no more attractive field in the world today for a woman than politics. She needs only one investment—her desire to be of service."

And her returns—in prestige, influence, in the knowledge of service rendered—are enormous. The picture which Mrs. Sabin draws is a glowing one. The arduousness, however, is apt to be dampened by the rigid course of training which she lays down for the woman political aspirant.

A woman must train herself for politics," she maintains, "just as thoroughly as she would for any other career. And she must work from the bottom up. This means doing the most menial things that comes to her hand."

I should say to the young woman who is contemplating a political career first, take a course in elementary law. Study civic. Know all about your municipal, county, state and federal government and the persons taking part in it.

"Then run for the lowest office there is—in the city a captaincy of a district in the county a membership on the county committee. This means, in plain speaking, a house to house canvass and delivering the votes."

If you make good in this the line runs straight from an associate leadership of the district or a vice chairmanship of the county committee to a place in the State Assembly. And from here—if you have demonstrated your fitness—the line runs straight to the highest position you are qualified to take.

The daughter of Paul Morton at one time a member of Roosevelt's cabinet, Mrs. Sabin grew up in an atmosphere of politics and since she was 12 years old she has missed but one national political convention. She has been a delegate to every state convention since women had the vote.

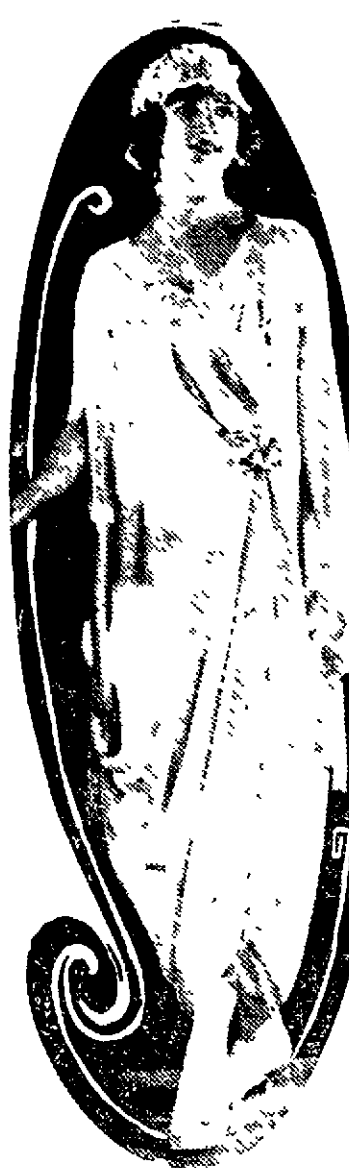

She was one of the organizers of the Women's National Republican Club which she served first as vice president and is now serving as president.

EXAMINE DEC. 14 FOR CLERK IN FIELD SERVICE

A competitive examination will be held at Appleton postoffice on Dec. 14 for a position of general clerical work field service. It was announced by Herman J. French local secretary of the civil service commission.

Persons of either sex may enter the examination. Competitors will be ex-

The most effective negligee is often the simplest, as in the case of this softly draped model of supple blue satin.

aimed in spelling arithmetic, penmanship and clerical tests. A physical examination is required of all applicants. They must submit a recent photograph of themselves and must be over 18 years of age. Salaries range from $900 to $1,400 a year. Application blanks may be secured from Mr. French at the postoffice.

LOOK HOW THE
RENT PILES UP

Suppose you are paying but $35 a month rent. Do you realize that this small monthly sum with 6 per cent interest added equals $2,509.63 in five years or $5,888.92 in 10 years? If you are paying $100 a month rent you spend $7,170.40 in five years or $16,765.96 in 10 years.

Why put all of this money in someone else's pocket? Stop paying toll to a landlord for a shelter for yourself and family. Do what thousands of others are doing—BUILD YOUR OWN HOME.

Adventures Of
The Twins

Twins Unafraid

The next place the Twins came to on the Tinky Winkle Stair was a giant's house.

"Boo!" yelled the giant out of the window.
"Boo yourself!" answered Nick. "We're not afraid of you. We're not afraid of anything."

"I'll bet you are," answered the giant. "Just you wait."

Pretty soon he reappeared in the doorway. And what did he do but change into a pink elephant and rush at them!

But Nancy and Nick bravely stood their ground. Even when the pink elephant took his trunk and lifted them on his back they weren't afraid.

"Oh, ducks," said the elephant. "Aren't you afraid of anything?"

"Only bees," answered Nancy.

Ah ha! I thought there was something afraid of elephant and then he disappeared so suddenly that the Twins lay on the ground with a thump. And just as they were there was a buzzing, a rattle, and a large swarm of bees came right at them.

Quick as a flash Nick grabbed a large mat from the giant's door step and threw it over his sister and then crawled under himself.

Of course the bees couldn't sting through anything so thick and they got tired and buzzed away.

Nancy and Nick waited and waited. Then, peeping out, they saw the bees had gone, so out they crawled.

A purple fairy, flying by his ears, was just disappearing around the corner.

"My goodness!" said Nick. "The giant and the elephant and the bees must have been Flap Doodle himself. He's changed himself with the Fairy Queen's wand."

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

In Greece every woman has to have a dowry and if her family is too poor to provide one the state takes the matter in hand and supplies the deficiency.

In certain oriental countries girls are offered for matrimony in a public market. The money paid for the beautiful maidens is distributed to the less attractive ones as a dowry—and a special inducement.

City Council
Prohibits Girl
From Singing

Kansas City, Mo.—The city council here has passed an ordinance prohibiting a young girl singer from appearing in concert.

Not that her voice is so bad—

But so good.

She is Marion Talley, 15-year-old school girl who comes from Nevada. Mrs. Schumann Heink says she has the voice of a century.

And the citizens here agree. They gave a benefit concert in a large auditorium, raised a good sized fund and will pay for the girl's training.

But they do not want her to spoil her chances by singing too much before she's properly developed.

So the mayor took a hand and had the municipal ordinance enacted.

EVENING PUMPS

New black satin pumps for evening wear have very high, scalloped tongues, heavily beaded with jet beads. Often beading is seen on the toes and heels of pumps this season. For daytime wear the strapped models continue in favor.

Every Senior Is Lending Hand To Make Success Of Thanksgiving Auction

With Public Invited, High School Students May Be Obligated To Engage Armory To Accommodate Crowds

Plans for the annual senior auction of Appleton high school are being pushed by all the members of the class and by a large number of teachers who have been made faculty chairmen of committees. One of the big problems of the auction this year is where to hold it in order to accommodate the crowd. It is possible that the armory will be selected instead of high school auditorium.

The following committees have been appointed and are at work to make the auction the biggest charity event in years: General chairman, Bessie Munger and Edward Jung; cashier, Lawrence Schreiter; assistant cashier, Beatrice Roblee; book-keeper, Ferdinand Reitzner.

Civic investigation: Miss Decima Salisbury, faculty chairman; Miss Dorothy Murphy, student chairman; Almere Nehls and Laura Bolt.

$65 AVERAGE BID AT BULL AUCTION

Large Crowd Attends Sale At Wickert Farm—Plan Second Event November 29

Fifteen purebred bulls offered at the consignment sale of Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association at Wickert farms Thursday after- noon brought an average price of $65. The highest price at the sale was $125.

There was a good attendance and bidding was lively under direction of James Weiler of Pickett, auctioneer.

Paul O. Nyhus, who left here re- cently to become federal crop reporter for the state, happened to be in this locality and acted as pedigree man. Breeders were well satisfied with the prices received although the figures appeared low. Conditions at this time prevented higher offers, it was said. A second sale of this kind is to be conducted by the association on Nov. 29, at some central place in the coun- ty to be announced later. Ten breed- ers are consigning some excellent animals.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

The evenness of performance so often re- marked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 800 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5285 individual inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards ap- plied to these inspections that the slightest variation either in workmanship or ma- terial is instantly discovered and rejected.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupu- lous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

He could hear him piling dry wood on the fire, the light on the tree trunks grew redder, a pungent peek of smoke was drawn through the forest aisles. She sniffed it, listened, and watched, her rifle across her knees.

She never had been afraid of anything. She was not afraid of this man. It came to her that she would have to kill. It never entered her mind to fear Quintana's rifle. Even Quintana was not as swift with a rifle as she. Only Stormont had been swifter—thank God.

She thought of Stormont—sat there in the terrific darkness loving him, her heart of a child tremulous with adoration.

Then the memory of Darragh pushed in the hot, hated possession of her. Always, in her heart, she had distrusted the man. Instinct warned her. A spy? What evil had he worked already? Where was her father? Evidently Quintana had escaped him at Drowned Valley. Quintana was yonder by his fire, preparing to flee the wilderness where men hunted him.

But where was Stormont? Had this sneak, Darragh, betrayed him? Was Quintana already in the clutch of State Troopers? Was he in jail?

At the thought the girl felt slight by faint, then a rush of angry blood stung her face in the darkness. Except for game and exile violations the stories they told about Quintana were lies.

He had nothing to fear, nothing to be ashamed of. Harred had driven him to lawlessness; the Government took away what was left him to make a living. He had to live. What if he did break laws made by millionaires and fanatics? What if he had her love and her respect—and her deep, deep pity. And these were enough for any girl to fight for.

Dawn spread a silvery light above the pines, but Quintana's fire still reddened the tree trunks, and she could hear him feeding it at intervals. Finally she saw him. He came out on the edge of the ruddy ring of light and stood peering around at the woods where already a vague grayness was revealing nearer trees.

When, finally, he turned his back and looked at his fire, Eve rose and stood between the two big pines. Behind one of them she placed her rifle. It was growing lighter in the woods. She could see Quintana in the fire ring and outside—saw him go to the spring, wash his face, drink, then, on his knees, wash face and hands in the icy water.

It became plain to her that he was nearly ready to depart. She watched him preparing. And now she could see him plainly, and knew him to be Quintana and no other.

He had a light basket pack. He put some articles into it, stretched himself and yawned, pulled on his hat, hoisted the pack and fastened it to his back, stood staring at the fire for a long time, then with a sudden upward look at the zenith where a slight flush stained a cloud, he picked up his rifle.

At that moment Eve called to him in a clear, steady voice.

The effect on Quintana was instant. He was behind a tree before her voice ceased.

"Hello! Hi! You over there?" she called again. "This is Eve Strayer. I'm looking for Quintana. He hasn't been home all night. Have you seen him?"

After a moment she saw Quintana's head watching her—not at the shoulder-height of a man but close to the ground and just above the tree roots.

"Hey!" she cried. "What's the matter with you over there? I'm asking you who you are and if you've seen my father?"

After a while she saw Quintana coming toward her, cowering, creeping, swiftly from tree to tree.

As he flitted through the shadows the trees between which she was standing hid her from him a moment. Instantly she placed her rifle on the ground and kicked the pine needles over it.

As Quintana continued his cowering maneuvers Eve, apparently perplexed, walked out into the clear space, putting the concealed trap between her and Quintana, who now came stealthily toward her from the rear.

It was evident that he had recognized sufficiently to satisfy himself that the girl was alone and that no trick, no ambush, threatened him.

And now, from behind a pine, and startlingly near her, came Quintana, moving with confident grace yet holding his rifle ready for any emergency.

Eve's horrified stare was natural; she had not realized that any man could wear so evil a smile.

Quintana stopped short a dozen paces away. The dramatic in him demanded of the moment its full value. He swept off his hat with a flourish, bowed deeply where he stood.

"Ah!" he cried gaily. "the happy encounter, Senorita. God is too good to us. And it was but a moment since my thoughts were of you! I swear it!"

It was not fear; it was a sort of slow horror of this man that began to creep over the girl. She stared at his brilliant eyes, at his thick mouth, too red—shuddered slightly. But the toe of his right foot touched the stock of her rifle under the pine needles.

She held herself under control. "So it's you, she said unsteadily. I thought our people had caught you."

Quintana laughed. "Charming child," he said. "It is I who have caught your people. And now, my God—I catch you! . . . It is very funny. It is not?"

She looked straight into Quintana's black eyes, but the look he returned sent the shamed blood surging into her face.

"By God," he said between his white, even teeth—"by God!"

Staring at her he slowly disengaged his pack, let it fall behind him on the pine needles; rested his rifle on it; slipped out of his mackinaw and laid that across his rifle—always keeping his brilliant eyes on her.

His lips tightened, the muscles in his dark face grew tense; his eyes became a blazing insult.

For an instant he stood there, unencumbered, a wiry, graceful shape in his woolen breeches, leggings, and gray shirt open at the throat. Then he took a step toward her. And the girl watched him, fascinated.

One pace, two, a third, a fourth—the girl's involuntary cry echoed the stumbling crash of the man thrashing, clawing, scrambling in the clenching jaws of the bear-trap amid a whirl of flying pine needles.

He screamed once, tried to rise, turned blindly to seize the jaws that clutched him; and suddenly crouched, loose-jointed, cringing like a trapped wolf—the true fatalist among our lesser brothers.

CHAPTER III
Eve picked up her rifle. She was trembling violently. Then, mastering her emotion, she walked over to the pack, placed Quintana's rifle and mackinaw in it, hoisted it to her shoulders and buckled it there.

Over her shoulder she kept an eye on Quintana who crouched where he had fallen, unstriving, his deadly eyes watching her.

She placed the muzzle of her rifle against his stomach, rested it so, holding it with one hand, and her finger at the trigger.

At her brief order he turned out both breeches pockets. She herself stopped and drew the Spanish clasp-knife from its sheath at his belt, took a pistol from the holster, another out of his hip pocket. Reaching up behind her, she dropped these into the pack.

"Maybe," she said slowly, "your ankle is broken. I'll send somebody from Ghost Lake to find you. But whether you're a broken bone or not you'll not go very far, Quintana. After I'm gone you'll be able to free yourself. But you can't get away. You'll be followed and caught. . . . So if you can walk at all you'd better go in to Ghost Lake and give yourself up. It's that or starvation. You've got a watch. Don't stir or touch that trap for half an hour. . . . And that's all."

As she moved away toward the Drowned Valley trail she looked back at him. His face was bloodless, but his eyes blazed.

"If ever you come into this forest again," she said, "my father will surely kill you."

To her horror Quintana, slowly grinning at her. Then, still grinning, he placed the forefinger of his left hand between his teeth and bit it.

Whatever he meant by the gesture it seemed unclear, horrible; and the girl hurried on, seized with an overwhelming loathing through which a sort of terror pulsed like evil premonition in a heavy and tortured heart.

Straight into the fire of dawn she sped. A pale primrose light shimmered through the woods; trees, bushes, undergrowth turned a dusky purple. Already the few small clouds overhead were edged with fiery rose.

Then, of a sudden, a shaft of flame played over the forest. The sun had risen.

Hastening, she searched the soft path for any imprint of her father's foot. And even in the vain search she hoped to find him at home—hurried on burdened with two rifles and a pack, still all nervous and aquiver from her encounter with Quintana.

TROSSEN LOSES AUTO HE DID NOT KNOW WAS STOLEN

Car Purchased At Manitowoc
Was One Of Group Taken
By Barthel Ring

An Appleton man was the victim of operations of an alleged auto thieves' syndicate, when he purchased a Ford coupe for $450 from John Barthel of the Manitowoc Storage Battery company, Manitowoc, about two months ago. Edwin Barthel, 27, a brother of the salesman, now is being held by the Milwaukee police as the ringleader of the band.

The car was bought by A. N. Trossen, 889 Spring-st., without suspecting that it was purloined property. He said he had been doing business with John Barthel for years. It appears John Barthel was himself the innocent accomplice of his brother who, the police say, directed the theft of at least 18 cars. Mr. Trossen turned over the car to the police Thursday when he learned that his was one of the cars involved in operations of the auto ring. Three members of the Milwaukee police department were in the city Thursday to investigate the matter.

STAGE GUN FIGHT

Edwin Barthel, who lives in Cleveland, Wis., was captured by four members of the Milwaukee automobile squad Wednesday after a running gun fight on state trunk highway 26 between Kewaskum and Trossen. After an all-day search in the country near Kewaskum, the detectives came upon a car occupied by Edwin Barthel and Walter Hecht, 21, son of a Friesland farmer. The officers commanded the men to stop, but Barthels, who was at the wheel, only increased his speed. The police car gave chase. Racing at terrific speed, Barthels began firing back upon his pursuers. When his ammunition gave out he stopped at a farmer's house and asked for more shells and said that he was being held up. But the farmer hurried to the woods. The men finally surrendered.

Hecht was held by the police over night for questioning, but was released the next morning. Brothers of the accused, John and Gustave Barthels, also were held for fear that Edwin might be tipped off as to his arrest. The brothers were to be released.

A total of 12 cars believed to have stolen by young Barthel's organization has been recovered. Two of them were recovered at Sheboygan, one at Appleton and one at Milwaukee. Barthel is said by the police to have admitted the theft of 18 cars.

Pettibone's first showings of Toys are on display tomorrow. The assortments are the largest of the season right now. Bring in the kiddies.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema
Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment. declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has even been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Unquestionably Good Merchandise

A Good Merchant certainly must handle good Merchandise. He may have the proper personality—he may have the best delivery service in the town. his store may have a wonderful location, but none of these things can make him successful unless backed up by a stock of Quality Merchandise.

You will find such Quality Merchandise right here in our store. For instance we have Voecks Pork Sausages. These Sausages served with Aunt Jemima Wheat Cakes and Maple Syrup are just what you want for breakfast. And then you take a slice of Mother's Bread, spread some of our Golden Cream Butter on it, drink a cup of Nicolet Coffee with a little Carnation Milk in it, eat a slice of Jaeger's Cake, and you will have had a real breakfast. Now this is only a sample of what we can furnish you. If you wish to have a big dinner or just an afternoon luncheon or maybe some swell affair for the evening, remember we can furnish the good on very short notice and serve you Quality Merchandise.

Power of Pasteurization

Presented Graphically

by Federal Display

At the Dairy Show at Minneapolis, Oct. 7-14, 1922

Practically all the dairymen are more or less interested in the subject of pasteurization. The section of the exhibit showing the results of experiments carried out along this line was indeed an enlightened one.

"Pasteurization is not an arbitrary term, but is the name given to a process of heating liquids—the name given in honor of the work of Pasteur in 1864." was the manner in which the heading to this booth read.

Three Systems Used

"As applied to milk, the primary object of pasteurization is the destruction of any disease germs which may be present," continues the explanation. "Three processes of pasteurization have been used in this country: the flash process, the holder or holding process, and pasteurization in the bottle. In the flash process milk is heated in from 30 seconds to one minute to a temperature of at least 160 degrees Fahrenheit. It is then immediately cooled and bottled. This process is not used extensively in this country for the pasteurization of milk. The holder process consists of heating milk to 145 degrees Fahrenheit in tanks and holding it for 30 minutes, after which it is cooled and bottled. This is the process most extensively used in this country. Some times milk is bottled first and then heated to 145 degrees Fahrenheit, held for 30 minutes and then cooled in the bottle. This process, known as in-the-bottle pasteurization, has many points to commend it.

"Pasteurization gives protection without injury to the milk, as is shown by the following facts.

"It has practically no effect on the chemical composition of the milk. In milk pasteurized at 145 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes the albumen and globulin are not precipitated, and neither is there change in the soluble salts.

"Milk pasteurized at 145 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes sours normally, and does not decompose, as many believe it does. The proportion of acid-forming bacteria to the total number of bacteria is actually increased when milk is pasteurized in this way, and the milk sours as normally as raw milk of equivalent bacterial quality. This is not true of high-temperature pasteurization; but high-temperature pasteurization is no longer used to any great extent in this country.

"Pasteurization has no effect on the vitamins fat-soluble A and water soluble B. Water-soluble C is weakened or destroyed; but in the case of infant feeding this deficiency can be easily made up by the addition of orange and tomato juice. In the case of adults water-soluble C is amply supplied by green vegetables.

"A very striking evidence of the value of pasteurization was shown in the central panel of this exhibit. This is an accidental human experiment which showed the usefulness of pasteurization as a safeguard against typhoid fever. The milk from one farm went to two cities. In one of these cities the milk was sold raw and in the other it was pasteurized. In the city which had the raw milk 12 cases of typhoid fever developed which were traced to the milk from that farm, but no cases developed in the other city where the milk from the same farm was pasteurized. Investigation brought out that a milkster on the farm had typhoid fever and infected the milk. Pasteurization saved one city from an epidemic.

Pasteurization Pays

"Such evidence as this, of the value of pasteurization, accounts for the remarkable increase in its use, as shown by charts in the third panel of the exhibit. As an illustration take New York City. In 1903 about five per cent of the milk supply of New York was pasteurized; in 1912, about 10 per cent; in 1914, about 88 per cent; and in 1921, 98 per cent. The extent of pasteurization is equally striking in the smaller cities. Figures in 1921 from 88 cities of less than 10,000 population showed that in 22 of them 50 per cent of the milk was pasteurized; in 12 others, from 11 to 50 per cent of the milk. Some cities require the pasteurization of all milk except certified. Experience with pasteurization may be summed up as follows:

"1. No epidemics have been traced to properly pasteurized milk.

"2. Proper pasteurization destroys the pathogenic organisms sometimes found in milk.

"3. After pasteurization, milk is handled by so few people before it reaches the consumer that it can be protected against further infection by frequent medical inspection of the small number of people concerned.

"4. Tuberculin testing properly used is a safeguard against bovine tuberculosis, but does not protect against typhoid fever, diphtheria, septic sore throat, and other milk-borne diseases. This emphasizes the need for pasteurization.

"5. Pasteurized milk sours like new milk of equivalent bacterial quality.

"6. Pasteurization is necessary each year. Get Pasteurized milk, it is the only safe milk conceded by all Dairy authorities. Why run chances of contracting diseases which are carried more or less in raw milk, if you can get properly pasteurized milk delivered to your door?

"Distributors in Appleton for the Contamo-Test, Angel Drink and My-Lo. All our Milk, Cream and Milk Drinks are properly Pasteurized.

Appleton Saturday will be the scene of one of the most important minor college games in the middle west when Lawrence, state champions for three years, clashes with Hamline title holders of Minnesota in a game that is expected to decide

COACH H. D. MCCHESNEY

3 CHAMPIONSHIPS IN 3 YEARS, RECORD OF H. D. MCCHESNEY

Lawrence Coach Had Uphill Fight But Brings Home Bacon Again

Three championships in three years. That is the record of H. D. McChesney who Saturday will send his team of Little Five title holders into a battle which is expected to determine the state champion in the Midwest conference.

The Lawrence mentor has had an uphill battle this year. When the season opened he was faced with an amazing dearth of material. Most of the men that he had counted on to give him another winner this year failed to show up when school opened. He was minus several backfield men. The line had left and he was up against a hard proposition. But it didn't take him long. His first effort was to bring back the men who still had a few years of football left and he succeeded admirably in that attempt. "Big Bill" Smith was one of the old timers who would not have returned to school if McChesney had not found some way of helping him. There are other good football men in the state who would make admirable additions to the Lawrence team and McChesney went after them and it was due almost entirely to his efforts that Lawrence was able to present so formidable a team this year.

Two years ago and last year McChesney developed teams which trampled over all opposition in their class but this year's team is much stronger than it was in 1921 or in 1920.

McChesney came here from Kansas State normal school Emporia Kansas in the fall of 1920. He coached at that time at the Kansas school for three years and prior to that he was at the University of Wisconsin for two years. He was also connected with the athletic department of the University of Idaho for a year before coming to Madison.

McChesney's success in developing three champions at Lawrence has been due to his ability to obtain good footballers as well as to teach the men the game. He has secured many good men for Lawrence and in that way has made the task of drilling winners much easier than if he had all mediocre material.

FONDY AND MENASHA CAGERS PLAY SATURDAY
Fond du Lac—The crack Fond du Lac Cardinals will open the 1922-1923 professional basketball season in this city Saturday evening when they will meet against the speedy Menasha Tractors. The Tractors have played several games already and will be in condition to give the Cardinals a good fight.

Fondy fans will no doubt turn out for the opening game Saturday night. Fondy has been promoted, and his new lineup of players will, even surpass his famous New London quintet. The players who will take the floor for Fond du Lac Saturday night are Gedlinski, Gus Schaefer, Herst, Adrian and Watson.

From all indications Coach McChesney will start his griders exactly the same as he sent against Ripon last week. In all probability Stoll, who will start off at end, will be switched to the fullback position and Doering will take up the end work.

Lawrence will make the Hamline visitors feel at home after the game. Officials and players are scheduled to dine at a banquet in the Russell Sage hall Saturday night. As a part of the courtesy, the Lawrence footballers will furnish each of the members of the Hamline squad with a girl escort. Coach Ben Beck and his squad of some twenty-five men are due to arrive in Neenah from St. Paul early Saturday. After breakfast they will tie themselves to Appleton and make off for the Lawrence field where an attempt will be made to get some of the stiffness out of the griders.

Seek Fourth Championship In 3 Years

M'Chesney's Players Have Good Record

When Lawrence college football players trot out on Lawrence field Saturday afternoon to battle Hamline in what is expected to be the hardest battle on their schedule they will have a determination to complete their third year without a defeat by a school in their class. The only games lost since H. D. McChesney took charge of the team three years ago were to the University of Wisconsin and these were merely practice games for the big school.

Lawrence has won the Little Five championship three years in succession and this year is making a bid for the title in the Midwest conference. Hamline is regarded as the leader in that wheel because of its victories over the strongest teams, including Cornell and Carleton, while Lawrence also has defeated Cornell but was held to a tie by Beloit. The latter school, however, has been eliminated by Knox. Coe college also is a contender but its schedule has been easy.

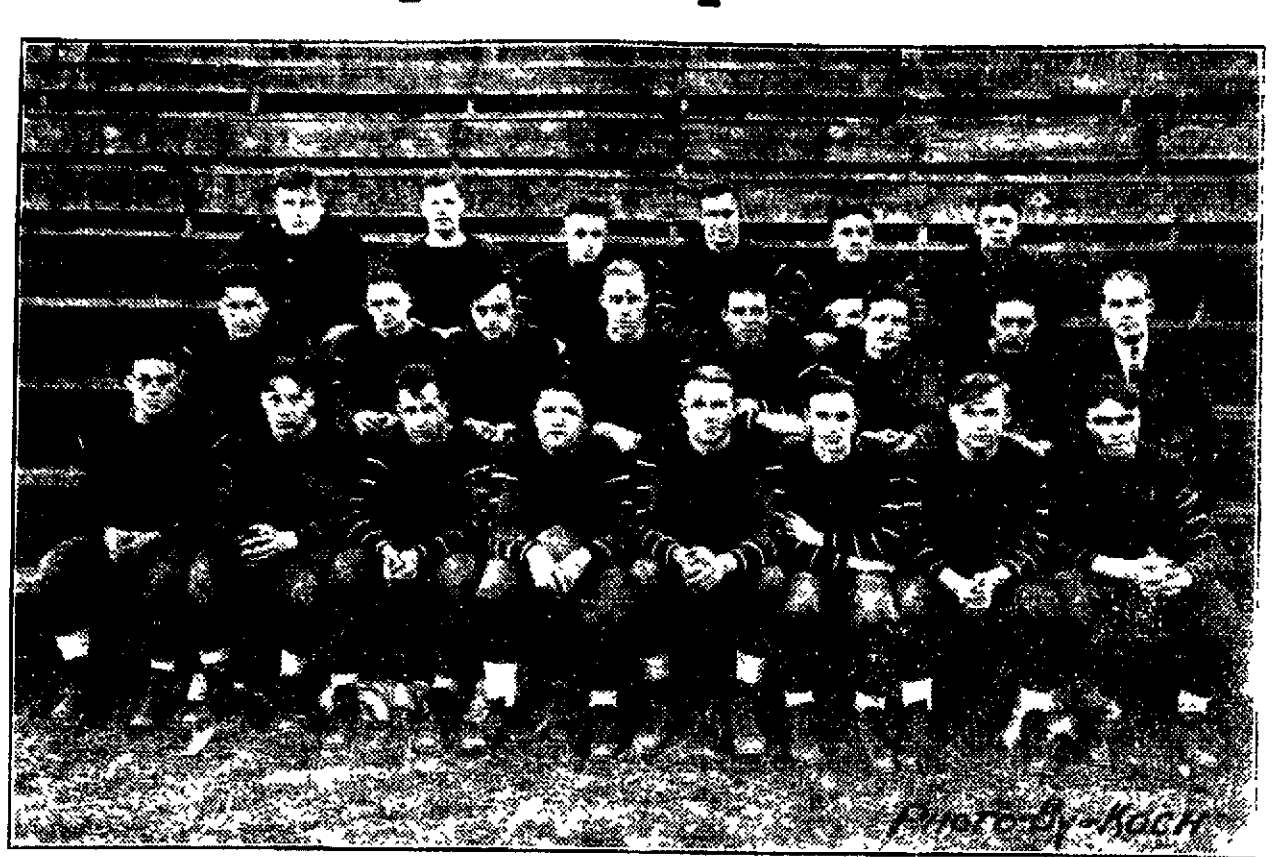

HOLD TEAMS SCORELESS
Getting off to a rather inauspicious start, the Blue team has developed slowly but steadily. In the first game the team showed great possibilities but little football knowledge and was held to 12 points by Stevens Point normal. Its defensive work was good, however, holding the Normals scoreless. Carroll college was defeated 13 to 0, in a last minute rally. Lawrence didn't show much in that game but it played better football than in the Stevens Point scrap.

The game at Beloit showed considerable improvement the team as a whole playing good football, but it lacked the necessary punch in the pinches and as a result was held to a scoreless tie by the Gold team. Lawrence has a much better team than Beloit, however, and no doubt if they should meet again Lawrence would win easily.

Cornell gave Lawrence a fierce battle but finally succumbed by a 12 to 10 score. Poor work on the part of officials was largely responsible for Lawrence's difficulties, however. The team showed a vast improvement over its work at Beloit the week previous.

Northwestern was no match for the Blue squad and a team of substitutes was used to defeat the seminarians by a score of 48 to 0. The layoff for the regulars, however, was a good thing in that it showed them where they could improve themselves.

Lawrence's showing against Ripon was a revelation. It looked like a new team which battled the highly touted Redmen to standstill, holding them scoreless and piling up 20 points for Lawrence.

Middle row: Remington, center; Rehman, half back; Grignon, fullback; Hunting, guard; Stoll, end; Kotal, quarterback; Grover, halfback; Bruce, manager.

TEAM HAS MANY STARS
Some of the best footballers in Lawrence in many years are included in McChesney's team. Kotal has developed into a great open field runner and a splendid field general. He is a wizard on running through a broken field and fights every second he is in the game. Blackburn and McGlynn are among the best tackles in the midwest and Hunting will stack high with the guards. No better defensive end than Berry has been seen here in a long time. He played all round Schneider. Ripon's greatest star, a week ago.

The backfield is made up of good ground gainers and strong defensive players. Grover is a whiz at dashing through the line and Basing is a great ground gainer in tackle smashes and he throws passes with unerring accuracy. Goan, Rehman and Currie give McChesney three dependable backs that can be used in emergencies. They are good ground gainers and Currie is especially good at backing up the line.

Lawrence has every reason to be proud of its team. It has come through with flying colors. Hamline is its biggest obstacle to a successful season and if that team can be overcome the local school can point to 1922 as one of its most successful football years.

LUTHERANS ROLL MANY GOOD MARKS

Yanks And Brown Teams Cop From Other Brotherhood Quintets

Tanks and Browns were victors in the match games, rolled Thursday night at the Eagle alleys in the regular contests of the First English Lutheran church. There was a single score above 200 but there were many other good marks. O. Kranzsch of the Yanks got away with the best total for three games, 533. The Rev. F. E. Hunter was second with 524 pins and H. Kranzsch third with 504 pins.

ROD AND REEL

By Dixie Carroll

PLANTING TROUT STREAMS
There are persons with the habit when they are sick, of depending upon the quantity of medicine they take to cure them of their illness. Thus, if a prescription calls for one spoonful of a certain mixture, they will promptly increase the dose of their own accord, to two spoonfuls in order that the cure may come twice as quickly, possibly defeating the very purpose of the medicine. Sometimes this same dope is applied by fellows who are planting trout streams.

Suppose we have one of those ideal streams splashing its way through miles of forest, down the sloping side of some hill valley that has had time to grow over a tangle, and that stream has no fish in it at all possibly on account of former sawmills or other fish destroying instruments at its head. In stocking such a stream one of the greatest mistakes that can be made is the placing of too many fry at the head waters, practically making a nursery stream of it.

In some cases, by looking over the records of some streams in the north of which the smaller trout predominate and which have been stocked for years and yet are not furnishing the amount of good angling water that the stocking would justify. I have found that sometimes 20,000 or even 30,000 fry have been dumped into a small stream in a comparatively short space of time, and practically the same method used for years.

Thus we have a stream chock-full of small trout, each and every one of which is battling hard to survive. The ones that do develop and increase in size and percentage being less frisky and agile than the fingerlings, have a tough time trying to beat the snailies ones near the surface to the flies, gnats and other insect production along the streams.

And again, while the large fish are bound to develop, the stream will be so full of the smaller trout that the angler will find it hard to get a fish in the water even if the big fellows are nosing around, the little ones will beat them to it and the angler will be compelled to toss an other under-length fish back into the water.

5 Lawrence Regulars In Last Game Saturday

Five Lawrence regulars will play their last game with the Blue and White Saturday. They are Myrtle "Base" Basing, Captain Donald "Punk" McGlynn, Walter "Vat" Hunting, William "Pill" Smith and Gerhardt Kubitz.

Each of these men have earned several letters and without a doubt Lawrence will miss them.

BEATS RIPON TWICE
To Basing will go the honor of bringing about the defeat of Ripon in 1920 and 1921. He is a dependable back and performs consistently. He can kick, run and pass. While he is not the fastest or shiftest halfback that ever donned the mole skin on the Lawrence field, he is certainly hard to stop. In 1920 he was kept on the sideline during the Ripon game for the first three quarters. In the fourth quarter he was rushed out by Coach McChesney and within a few minutes his way for a third when the whistle he got two touchdowns, and was on halted the game. In 1921 Basing's 35 yard run in the last few minutes play ultimately resulted in a 7 to 3 victory for Lawrence.

MCGLYNN GOOD LEADER
Capt. McGlynn lived up more than to the expectations of Lawrence followers as pilot of the Blue and White. He is Basing, he has been a member of the squad four years and for two years he was chosen all-state tackle.

GREEN BAY "11" PLAYS AT RACINE ON SUNDAY

By Associated Press
Green Bay—The professional football championship of Wisconsin may be settled next Sunday when the Green Bay Blues, formerly the Packers, meet the Racine American legion at Racine. The legion defeated the locals earlier in the season and if they can repeat their preference and also beat the Milwaukee Badgers they will have a clear claim to the title. Every member of the "Blues" squad is in tiptop condition and are putting in strenuous drills daily in an effort to win Sunday.

MANY GRID HEROES OF YORE TO BE AT MARQUETTE GAME

Old Timers In Stands When Hilltop Squad Meet Detroit Saturday

Milwaukee—Among the home-comingers on the sidelines Saturday when the Marquette football team plays the Detroit university will be a number of old Marquette stars who played in the days when Marquette held Notre Dame to a scoreless tie in 1910 and '11 also to a 6 to 6 tie in 1909.

Lee Foley Milwaukee an all-western end in his day who made a 50 yard run in the game with the University of Illinois for a touchdown at Champaign in 1907 that tied the score 6 to 6 will be in the stands. Foley also made a 65 yard run for a touchdown in a game with the University of Wisconsin in 1909.

"BO" HANLEY "HOME"
All western tackle, "Bo" Hanley, Kenosha, will be back for homecoming. He made a touchdown in the game with the University of Michigan in 1909 which held the Wolverine's 7 to 6.

Puggie Wright, Marinette, who played tackle in '07, '08 and '09 Dr. Munsell Racine, the Meyer brothers who played halfbacks, Dr. Pike Kenosha, Milwaukee who made all-south western during the years he played an George Dutcher are all expected at the game.

Dutcher upon leaving Marquette went to Georgetown university where he became captain of the football team and in the same year made Walter Camp's All-Americans. Dr. Kenney, "Nig" Howe, Larry Gillick and Dr. Bill Clancy went from Marquette to St. Louis university and helped to make a winning team there. Alderman Leo Hoffman, Milwaukee, who was quarterback with Marquette in '04 and '05 made a name with the Creighton team where he received his degree.

CONGRESSMAN HILLTOPPER
Congressman John Klecksa also played guard on the Hilltop squad. Besides being known on the football field Marquette sent a track team to the Georgetown Intercollegiate track meet in 1908 where Bill Brennan defeated Pickling of the New York Athletic club in the high jump. Mr. Meyers who is now coaching the Washington high school, Milwaukee, entered the Georgetown sprinters.

Much enthusiasm has been shown throughout the season each school hoping that their team come out on top. At first things looked very favorable for the Fourth ward but soon the First crept up to an even place with the Fourth Thursday the Lincoln school came in to claim an equal right to the champion ship.

There will be an elimination contest coming between the three schools next week at which time the champion ship will be decided. Standing of the teams follows:

HIGH SCHOOL FACES TOUGH EAST BAY FOE

Figures Conflict In Forecast As To Who Will Win Football Contest Saturday

Supporters of Appleton high school football team are wondering what will be the fate of Coach Arthur Dennerly's footballers Saturday when they clash with the East Green Bay high school football team and champions of the Bay.

Comparative dope this time doesn't seem to give a satisfactory answer. Juggling of the figures one way gives Appleton the advantage and then another way the Bay players seem to have the best of it. Both teams are flashy and like a diversified style of play.

In comparing the figures one comes to the conclusion that a real contest is in prospect. Appleton beat West Green Bay to the tune of 39 to 7 and East Green Bay in turn defeated the west siders by scores of 27 to 7. This would indicate that Appleton's scoring ability is somewhat greater than that of its rival. Yet, when it is recalled that Marquette beat the Green Bay champions by a score of 13 to 7 and Marquette later on defeated Appleton 13 to 0 the conclusion is that Green Bay is stronger, but is it?

Records for the last 17 years of relations of Green Bay and Appleton schools indicate that the institutions are about even in their pigskin rivalry. Last year the Blue and Orange downed the Bay men 17 to 6.

Two men who took part in the Oshkosh game failed to recover sufficiently from their injuries and will not be able to play Saturday. As thought Vervey, left end, will be replaced by Hillman. Scheits, who started out as left guard, is also on the crippled list and will be replaced by Kamp. Other players probably will be Blair, left tackle; Bonini, center; Fischer, right guard; Stark, right tackle; Ashman, right end; Mills, quarterback; Grover, left halfback; Verstaegen, right halfback; Evers, fullback.

The high school squad will leave for Green Bay Saturday morning accompanied by some of the students. The trip will be made by automobile.

BADGERS' HOPE FOR WIN FROM WOLVERINE ELEVEN

Richards' Squad In Good Shape For Fight; Ann Arbor Pessimistic

Dopsters See Wisconsin Stumbling Block For Michigan Aspirations To Big Ten Championship

Madison—Coach John Richards and his 30 Badger candidates entrained late Thursday afternoon for Ann Arbor where they will meet Michigan in the feature game of the week.

According to dopsters, Wisconsin is the only stumbling block the Wolverines will face in their race for the conference title. Despite the defeat at the hands of Illinois, the Cardinal squad is rated as a powerful aggregation and likely to upset the pennant hopes for the Yostmen.

EXPECT BATTLE
The entire team was in shape and although expecting a battle and a close score they were a confident aggregation when they boarded the train here.

Jack Harris is back on the squad after being out for several weeks with an injury. He may make his appearance on Saturday in the lineup. The remainder of the men will line up about the same as against Zuppke's men.

The team has shown more pep and fight during the last week than at any time during the late part of the training grind. Going into the game with the odds against them rooters hope may produce a fighting machine that will not be defeated.

One of the largest crowds that ever attended a massmeeting turned out to give the squad a sendoff on Thursday. The special train carrying about 2,000 students and Badger fans will leave Friday night.

The team will lay over in Jackson Mich., where they will hold a light workout. They will arrive in Ann Arbor Friday night. A banquet will be given in the team's honor at Detroit after the game by the former Wisconsin grads.

ANN ARBOR BLUE
Ann Arbor—Underconfidence, rather than overconfidence, is becoming the prevailing sentiment around the campus, as the Wisconsin game comes nearer to the day of playing. Wolverine enthusiasts glance at the list of crimples on the varsity, the extraordinary weight and size of the Badgers and their showing, even though beaten against Illinois, and do not find much comfort. The question now is, "Will we beat them?" rather than "How badly will we beat them?" There is abundant reason for pessimism of the Michigan rooters. The eleven that will enter the field against Wisconsin on Saturday is quite different to the one that opened the conference season against Ohio State.

YE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN

By M. J. V. Foss

Rob Becker, writing in the Chicago Tribune regarding humpback salmon says:

When you have heard about the way thousands of salmon try to ascend a creek to spawn, and have heard men describe the picture of salmon so numerous in these streams that you could almost walk across the water on the thickly packed, squirming fish, you get the desire to see this sight. And one morning in Sawmill bay, at latitude approximately 60 degrees north, we had that chance.

We were going to be in Sawmill bay for several hours while the big boat loaded a valuable, but extremely smelly cargo of herring. So, slipping into a gasboat, we hit off for the salmon stream.

Salmon dizzies was with us. It could not spoil the scenery of that bay with its steep, forest clad slopes topped with snow fields and blue-green glaciers.

Several hundreds yards from the mouth of the salmon stream we could see the water apparently boiling and surging—the fish were there. As we arrived at the south of the creek the fish scurried in all directions, some of them jumping out of the water in their fright.

We landed and walked up the bank of the stream to watch the poor fish fighting the current and struggling in the shallow water as they swam and squirmed their way toward the head of the creek. Many of them were in early a few inches of water, their backs exposed, and one could throw them out on the bank with ease.

Not a few were so exhausted with their fight that they would be easy prey for the gulls who make short work of the weak fish, picking out their eyes and then finishing the fish later. To see these poor fish struggling and dying in their effort to maintain the species is one of the wonders and one of the tragedies of nature.

CLOTHES AND HAIR KNOCK YEARS OFF AGED WOMAN
Newark, N. J.—Turning old age into youth is all a matter of clothes and hair.

So say Mrs. Elizabeth Tichenor, more than 80, and Miss Agnes March, who has passed 80. Both are inmates of Newark's Home for Aged Women and both were made young for an evening by the deft use of quaint old frocks, masks and false hair.

It was at a party given by the home inmates. Looking like maidens of 20, Mrs. Tichenor and Miss March danced and gambled about and were recognized by none of the guests until after they had unmasked.

4TH FLOOR BEATS 3RD FLOOR CAGERS

The Fourth floor of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory is claiming the championship of the "Y" as a result of a victory over the Third floor in a basketball game this week. The Fourth floor won 24 to 15. However, the Third floor has issued a challenge and another game is to take place in a few weeks. The following men took part in the game: Fourth floor—William Grams, Ted Xistris, Charles Lavelle, N. S. Vosler, Dr. H. A. Lipschutz and J. N. Fisher. Third floor—Victor Jensen, Jerry White, Paul Weero, R. Wood and A. P. Jensen. Don Gebhardt, assistant physical director, was the referee.

RADIO NEWS

Scientific observers throughout the world are trying to solve one of the most perplexing mysteries of radio.

It is: Why do we receive better at night than during the day time and what is the cause of those "freak periods" during which stations at exceptional great distances can be heard?

Every amateur and listener knows the radio concerts come in

QUARREL REVEALS FAMILY SKELETON

Love-Polygon Is Aired In Court When Couple Fights Over Home

Special To Post-Crescent
Los Angeles—Were it not for a dispute over their $20,000 home, there might never have been charged that a love-polygon exists, whose main points are alleged to be taken up by Anita Gibson Finigan, society favorite, and her husband, Raymond F. Finigan, movie actor.

Inability to decide on the disposition of the home, say attorneys in the case, forced the quarrel into the

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass Of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

Too much meat may form uric acid which excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys close, you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which every day should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in correcting kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

courts and brought out names of others who are said to occupy the corners of this many-sided polygon. Finigan, who is known to the picture world as Ray Hanford, has filed a bill of divorce against the former society belle of Oakland, Calif., and has named Frederick B. Warren, wealthy New York miller, and William Harrison Clem, Indian oil magnate, as co-respondents. Several other names are added.

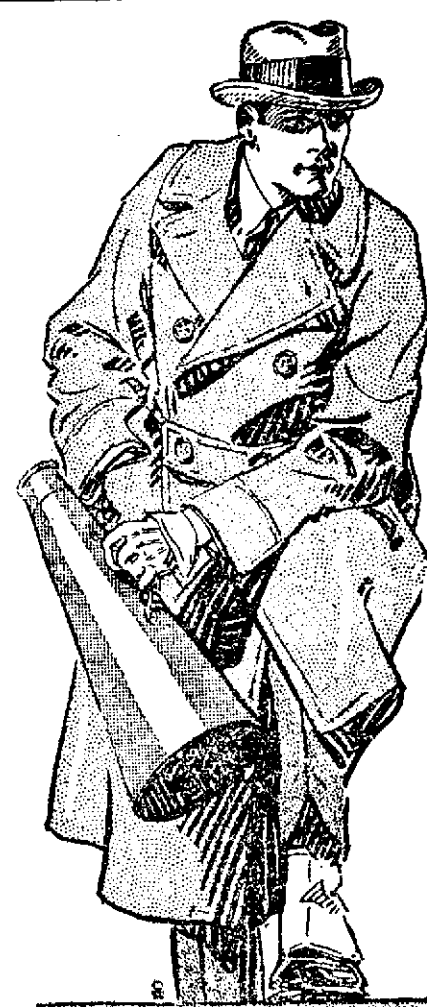

Clem, dapper, striking and well known in California, Kansas, and Oakland, is said to be a scion of the Osage tribe, enriched by oil royalties. Finigan charges Clem accompanied his wife on a deer hunt unchaperoned. Similarly Finigan accuses Warren of lavishing money upon his wife. Mrs. Finigan, on the other hand, alleges cruelty, violent temper and even threats of death. Each makes a bitter denial of the complaints and plans to fight the action to the end.

SCHOOL BOARDS OF COUNTY WILL MEET IN TWO SECTIONS

Annual Convention At Appleton And Seymour Dated Nov. 22 And 23

The annual school board convention of the county will be held in two sections at Appleton and Seymour Nov. 22 and 23. School boards in the northern section of the county will meet Wednesday in Armory G. Appleton while the boards of the northern part of the county will convene in the auditorium at Seymour Thursday of next week. Both meetings will open at 10 o'clock. The two meetings plan to make it convenient for school board members and also help reduce mileage.

A. A. Thompson of the state department of education, Madison, will be the principal speaker. His topics will be "The Training of Rural School Teachers" and "A Larger Unit as the Proper Method of Taxation." Also the local speakers are Principal W. F. Hagman of the county training school and W. E. Smith, superintendent of Waupesa school.

Every school district in the county is expected to be represented. The law requires that each district clerk shall be present. Through the clerk and treasurer also are expected to attend. Each school board member will be allowed $4 a day for attendance, provided his certificate of attendance shows he was present at each session. Mileage at the rate of 3 cents a mile, going and coming will be paid from any moneys in the district school treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Boards may invite teachers to attend and allow them the day as though school were actually in session. This is the custom in many districts. Any persons interested in school work are also invited according to Mrs. Florence S. Jenkins, county superintendent.

All schools in the county with the exception of those in Appleton, Kaukauna and the Third ward of New London are included.

DORWARD TALKS TO DADS, SONS TONIGHT

Indications are the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will be filled to capacity Friday evening for the father and son banquet at which Dr. W. T. Dorward of Chicago will be the speaker. With churches of Appleton cooperating, the ticket sale has been heavy and it is expected the 300 places all will be taken.

The Y. M. C. A. is furnishing sons for the fathers who have none, giving opportunity to many boys to attend.

Thanksgiving Display and Sale of an $80,000 Collection of Rare Oriental Rugs

Brought to Appleton by the Firm of Cartozian & Gabriel

In addition to the already great displays that Mr. Gabriel has been showing here—Mr. Cartozian has returned to Appleton with an EVEN FINER collection. Altogether, these Oriental displays are valued at MORE THAN $80,000.

Every Oriental Sold is Entirely Guaranteed by Pettibone's

An Oriental rug is an investment—and should only be bought from reputable firms. Every rug sold in this special sale and display is absolutely guaranteed as to quality and fairness of price by this firm and Messrs. Cartozian and Gabriel. You are positively SURE when you buy Orientals with such an assurance.

The Prices Are Absolutely Lower Than City Figures

The firm of Cartozian & Gabriel imports directly from the far East. While Oriental rugs are seldom comparable as to price—these are ACTUALLY LESS THAN YOU WOULD PAY in large cities.

Mr. Cartozian will only be here until the first of the month so you have but a few days to view the entire display. The thoughtful husband will buy now for a Christmas gift to the house.
